Todd Gamble

Gumby, (D.F.T.)

your a sneaky son of a Gumby, and you pitch like a damn Gumby. I think everyday your starting to look more and more like a damn Gumby. Im really worried now. Pretty soon you'll start looking like a Big Boy. Then you'll start combing your hair like a Big Boy!! Well anyway you are an excellant pitcher and dont let Coach Whats his name disappoint ya!! Good luck with all the freshman girls next year!!

You + Byron can swim this summer, just come on over.

Take it easy.

Doug 14th

Todd,

To a really nice looking guy who I just met this year! We will have to get together this summer + party. I'm really glad we became friends. Good luck in everything you do + with the girls. Stay in touch over the summer!

Love & Friendship

Sandy "87"

Todd (Gilbert),

To a real cool friend who I think should take defensive driving! Ha Ha you've been a great friend and I'm glad I finall got to know you around Christmas vacation. I won't forget all the great times we had like dodging Artesi the night of Haas's party, goin to Shelly's house + staying al night, going to the drive-in, et Hopefully there will be mo this weekend! Have an excelle summer + I know I'll see you alot!

Troy

Todd,
To one of the sexiest
guys in French class.
you better come over this summer we can go out and get wasted! and lay out in the sun together.
try and stay out of trouble this summer. I know its hard. but try!
See you over the summer!
Keep in touch!
Love ya!
Always
Monique

P.S.
Did you ever figure out who I like?

Todd,
To a nice, handsome man,
Good luck in everything, with everyone. I'm glad you were in my French class, you made it fun.
Love Kelly Olwick

Todd,

I'm so glad you moved here, I'm also glad I got to know you. You helped me when I was down and I owe you a great deal. I use to think we were really close but somehow or other a big gap ended up between us and I hate it. We always end up fighting over almost nothing. Hopefully we'll get to be better friends over the summer. Remember how we met. You were teasing me and I didn't even know you. I always thought you were nice and I hope we're friends for a long time. Hope we do a lot over the summer.

Love & Friendship,
Kim

To the Smoothest stud I know.
I am glad that you moved here from Fort Wayne. Its been fun with you. I don't think I could of handled Alg. II without you. Same goes for History! Maybe I'll see you this summer. If you go to Tiger stadium in october I'll see you.

Friends always,
David [illegible]

While she prepared for a winter concert Gretchen Rust practiced her French horn.

Though she was shocked by an overzealous chorus, Michelle Barker continued with her sentimental melody.

Memories . . .

By following and breaking Rossford High School traditions, many memories were built by the class of 1984. Senior pictures were a big part of building memories, as classmates exchanged pictures in which to be remembered by their peers. Following tradition, graduation announcements were voted on and ordered by the senior class. But, there was a break in tradition as the class voted to have a class song instead of a motto. As the year ended, the final tradition was on June 1, 1984, when the class graduated.

On the Job

Part-time jobs gave many seniors work experience and extra spending money. A job during the senior year was good experience for the students as they could get acquainted with and understand the adult work world. A part-time job, also, gave each employed student money to enjoy an evening out or to save it until needed.

Seniors

Parents' Night

Parents' nights were a way to honor senior students who participated in various high school activities and their parents. The last home event of each sport's season was designated as "parents' night." Each senior in uniform was escorted by his parents and introduced before the game. This provided a chance to recognize the sacrifices, support, and pride of those most important boosters.

At the last basketball game, Tom McKibben was escorted by his parents as part of the parents' night ceremonies.

Career Goals

The Penta County Vocational School provided an opportunity for high school juniors and seniors to study for vocational careers. Students at Penta County studied general high school academics in their morning classes; and in the afternoon, they had lab classes in specific fields. They studied courses such as cosmetology, food management and commercial arts. This education helped students prepare for jobs after graduation.

Practicing on mannequins were Judy DePew and Patsy Marsh as part of their cosmetology class at Penta County.

Dressing Up

Dressing up a couple times throughout the year distinguished the seniors from the underclassmen. On Halloween, they wore wild and crazy costumes. Toward the end of the school year, a day was spent more formally in suits and dresses. Sloppy was the fashion one day with torn jeans, faded socks and ripped shirts.

A quick break between class gave the seniors a chance to gather on the senior steps to exchange laughs over Halloween costumes.

Exchanging

Participating in high school activities was a big part of the exchange students' school life while they were enrolled at Rossford.

Attending as seniors during the 1983-84 school year were Ursula Coupette from Germany, Joakim Pettersson from Sweden and Rudy van den Oever from Holland. Beyond regular school work, each student chose an extra-curricular activity to participate in throughout the school year. This enabled each exchange student to become acquainted with the American student's high school life.

Involvement on the varsity football team was shown by Joakim Pettersson as he wore his team jersey and displayed good luck signs made by the cheerleaders.

Enjoying a French meal was Ursula Coupette as she was a special guest at the French Club dinner.

A member of the senior basketball team, Rudy van den Oever dribbled the ball as he practiced for an upcoming game.

Class Cooperation

For a class to have had anything succeed they had to have cooperation, and the juniors had it. When anything needed to be done juniors were there to do it. During the McDonald's contest, the juniors turned in their gold tickets and came in second place with 1275 points. The juniors, also, had to work to raise money for the prom. They sold the consessions at the Anthony Wayne football game and raised $176.75. Whether working for competition or profit, the juniors enjoyed the challenge.

School's Not All "Hard Work"

Even though most students felt school was a lot of hard work, there were moments provided during the day and after school to have fun. Extra-curricular activities included formally organized sport teams as well as the annual Powder Puff Football Game and Class Competition Day. The not-so-athletic were involved in classes which enhanced their special talents such as art, music, home economics and industrial arts. Other classes had related clubs such as French and Spanish. Other special interest clubs also existed to enable many juniors to have the hard work tempered with good clean fun.

Taking time out for a picture were Angela Zabick, Laura Earls, Cindy Schmidt, and Amy Pietrasz as they regained their voices at the homecoming game.

New Surroundings

Thirty-five juniors found themselves in new surroundings as they decided to pursue vocational studies offered at Penta. Some of the areas in which R. H. S. students enrolled were law enforcement, child-care assistant, auto mechanics, accounting, health, and commercial art.

Other juniors who remained at the high school also found new surroundings. They had expected changes in the language arts' area due to the addition of the new wing. However, another unexpected change came in American History classes which were also relocated from their traditional rooms. This placed Mr. Jackson and Mr. Recknagel just across the hall from each other.

Lunch was everyone's favorite subject as shown by Jeanine Davenport and Kathy Leganik as they ate in the new cafeteria.

Sophomores

Sales! Sales!

The Sophomore Class raised money rather easily when it came to class participation. Their sole money-maker — M&M sales — continued to be successful. Fellow students were always appreciative of a box of M&M's in the middle of a long school day and in turn, sophomores gained a profit to pay for the Basketball Homecoming which they sponsored.

Chosen by their class, Steve Kaczmarek (pres.), Mark Taylor (v.p.), Andrea Haas (tres.) and Lisa Smith (sec.) served as sophomore class officers.

Thinking It Through

Every student during the sophomore year faced two major hurdles — the required Composition class and the decision to enroll at Penta. Composition seemed formidable as the awesome, 1000-word, research paper loomed overhead. However, most students found the task less difficult than they imagined and successfully completed this course. The Penta decision came after the annual visit to three vocational areas of interest by each student on Visitation Day. Helping the sophomores make their plans were the guidance counselors Mrs. Faust and Mrs. Sinkey. As the year came to a close both requirements were easily overcome by each sophmore.

Trying to meet a due date in composition class, Scott Roberts reviewed his work to make sure it met the standards and was in on time.

Helping on the Homecoming

The main event that the sophomores sponsored with their hard earned money was the basketball homecoming. With the help of their class advisor, Mrs. Matthews, the event turned out to be a successful one. Much time and organization were mandatory in putting on this dance. Many sophomores spent weeks in after-school meetings and occasional phone calls in order to plan the homecoming with care. Tenth graders found out that sponsoring the homecoming was not easy, but well worth their time.

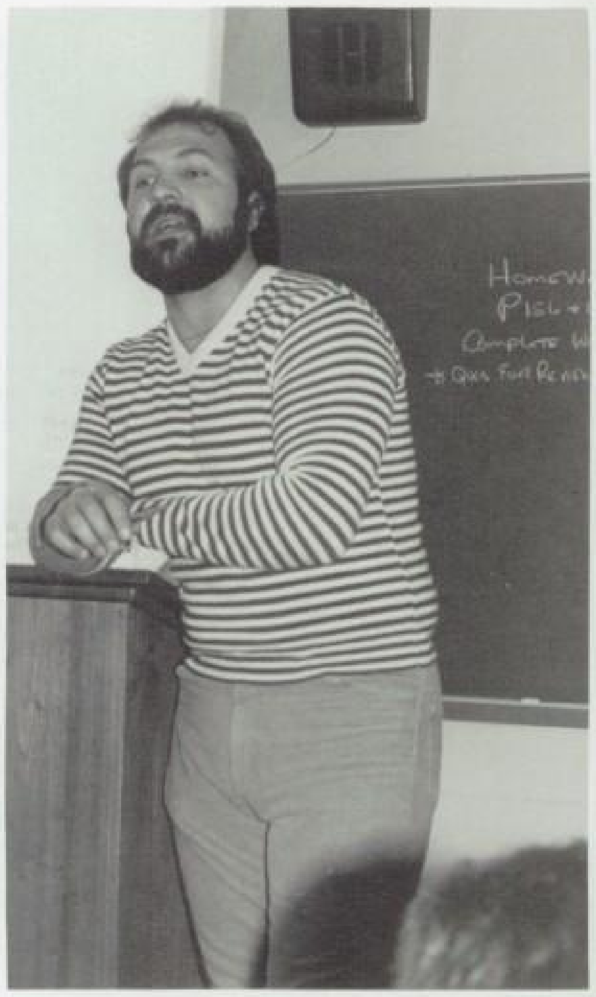
Freshmen

It Was Fun, But Tough

Freshmen found that required and elective courses were not necessarily what they expected. One of the most tedious classes that was required was Mr. DiJohn's health class. Every Thursday night was spent studying for Friday's test, whether it was naming all the hand bones or naming the symptoms for certain diseases. But, the tedium was broken before each test when Mr. DiJohn said, "All right, kiddies, SWEEP!!!!!"

Spanish I and French I were very common electives freshmen chose to take. Learning a new language was a little easier than it sounded, but the cultures in other countries seemed a little odd, compared to the U.S. One of the oddest that Spanish classes learned was that it is fashionable to be 30 minutes late to everything in Spain. All of these experiences made Freshmen courses unique as well as very educational.



Assigning homework was one way to get the Health-9 students to study, and they got enough of it from Mr. DiJohn.

Cards, Cards, & More Cards!

During some of the well-earned free-time, a lot of freshmen decided to play cards. One of the most popular card-gaming times was lunch. Study hall and "free classes" were also filled with card players. Rummy was often played, but, of course, the most popular was euchre.

Freshmen

After School Hobbies

When freshmen got home from school, the big decision was what to do next. A lot of them who were not involved in sports found themselves preoccupied with computers or involved in collections. Some collected beer cans, coins, and stuffed animals; but the most common thing that freshmen collected was junk — everything from old papers to flat footballs. A lot of them were quite serious about it, too.

"Is everyone here?" asked Kim Recknagel, but the answer was "No," as she only showed a portion of her stuffed animal collection.

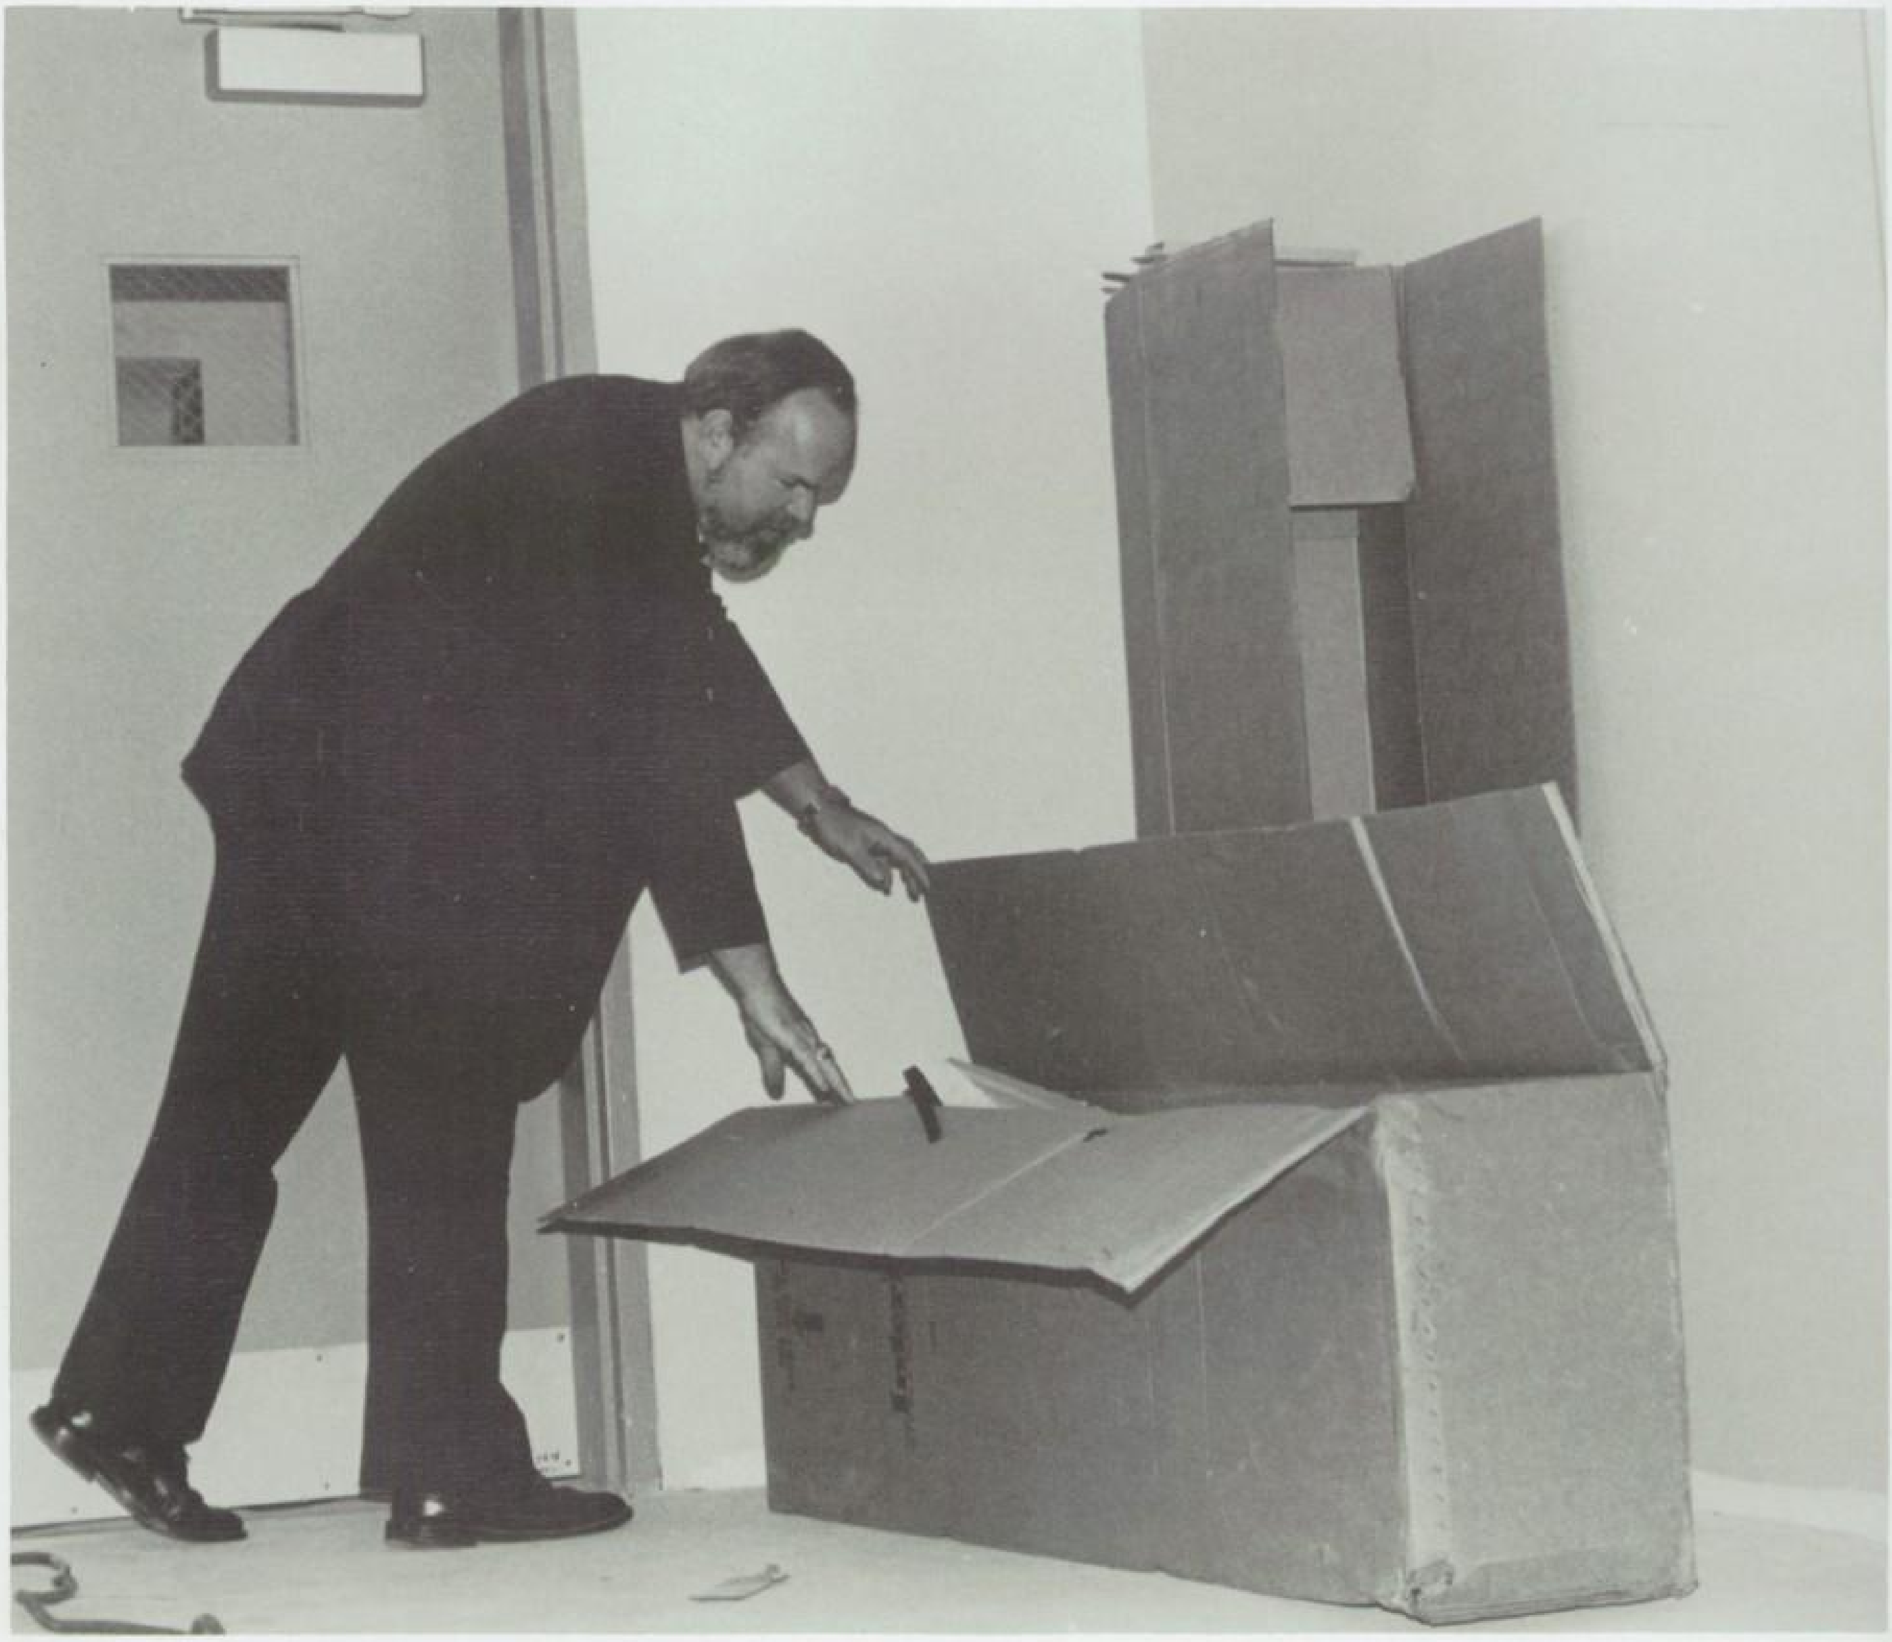
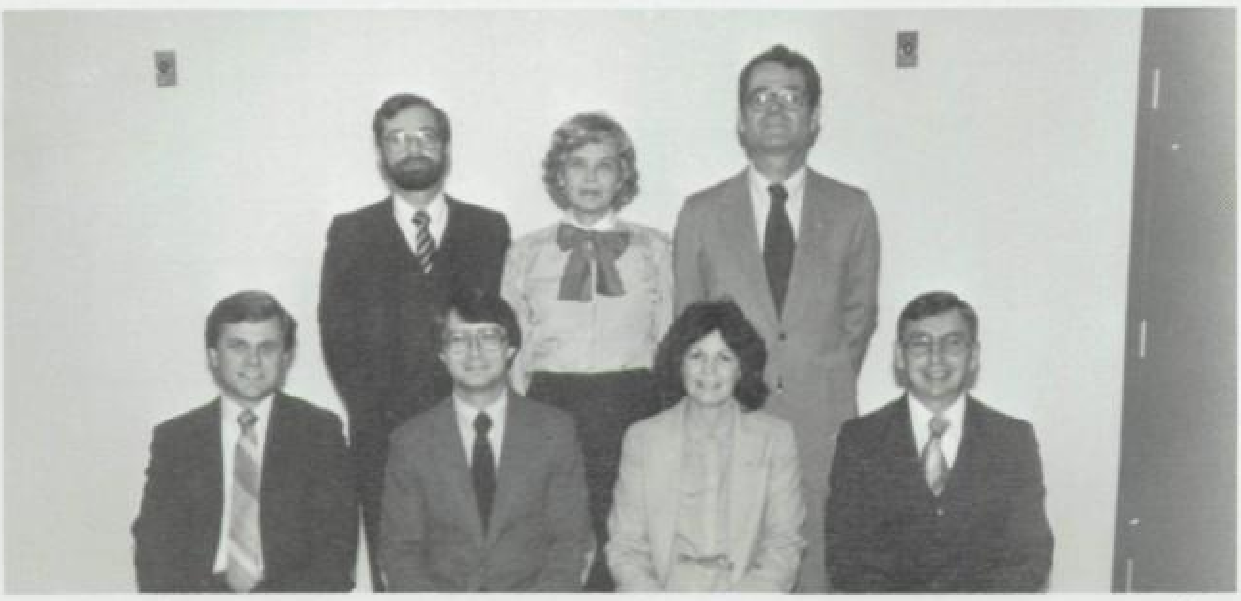
Leadership Reflected To Students

Associate principal, Mr. John Kaylor, took on the duties of acting principal last July after the resignation of Mr. Gerald Smith. Mr. Kaylor was left with the demanding responsibilities of a building principal as well as directing construction, ordering furniture and keeping the numerous details on line so school would open on schedule August 30. Even after the permanent principal was hired, Mr. Kaylor continued being in charge of the addition and remodeling projects. Juggling schedules and moves, concern for student safety and just knowing what went where were a credit to Mr. Kaylor's organizational ability.

Not only were floors and rooms added to R. H. S. this year, Mr. James Ingham took over the principalship in early September. His former background included teaching and coaching duties at St. Francis and Ottawa Hills high schools and an assistant principal position at Whitmer.

Along with Mr. Anthony Judson, superintendant, and the Board of Education both Mr. Kaylor and Mr. Ingham were responsible for maintaing a quality program in academics, facilities and extra-curricular areas.





Taking a moment to chat, Mr. Anthony Judson, superintendant, answered questions posed by Tracy Curtis and Jeanine Davenport.

Going over the school's constitution, Mr. James Ingham not only got acquainted with the new faces of Shelly Patton, Sue Holzman, Cheryl Bohland and Jeff Nyitria but also got familiar with the school's rules.

Checking out a delivery of equipment, Mr. John Kaylor, associate principal, made sure all the classroom materials came in as ordered.

I Don't Know, I Just Work Here

The school year started with construction well underway, and a new principal. Confusion flourished as some teachers had new rooms, staircases were closed or limited to use by construction workers and several rooms were without P.A. systems and accurate clocks. Gradually, the routine began to take shape as teachers cooperated in helping students find new classrooms and showed patience by not being too quick to give a detention to a student who needed that extra minute to get to class.

Entangled desks showed how topsy turvy the school was during rennovation. As new equipment arrived, it was piled high while walls, floors, and ceilings were finished.

Junior girls over powered the junior guys when asked history questions by Mr. Jackson. The final results were posted on the chalk board to show their ability.

Lending A Helping Hand

Teachers helped students not only in the classroom but also in preparing them for the future. This was especially true in the case of seniors. This year several activities took place as fund raisers for the scolarship fund. They included a 50-50 raffle for employees every payday, a Goaldiggers hockey ticket sale each month, the faculty-varsity basketball and volleyball games, a geranium sale, a family movie night and a benefit performance of the production "Dirty Work at the Crossroads." Mrs. Greiser, who was the chairman for the fund-raising committee, helped Mr. Eigensee, who was in charge. This year's scholarship committee hoped to raise between $2,000 and $3,000.

Generally, the teachers tried to award two or three scholarships of $500. To receive a scholarship through the school there were three major factors that were considered: accumulative grade point average for the past three years, the involvment of the student with the school, and the financial need.

A friendly hug given to Rene Goings by Mr. Wilcox helped to encourage her to learn those verbs.

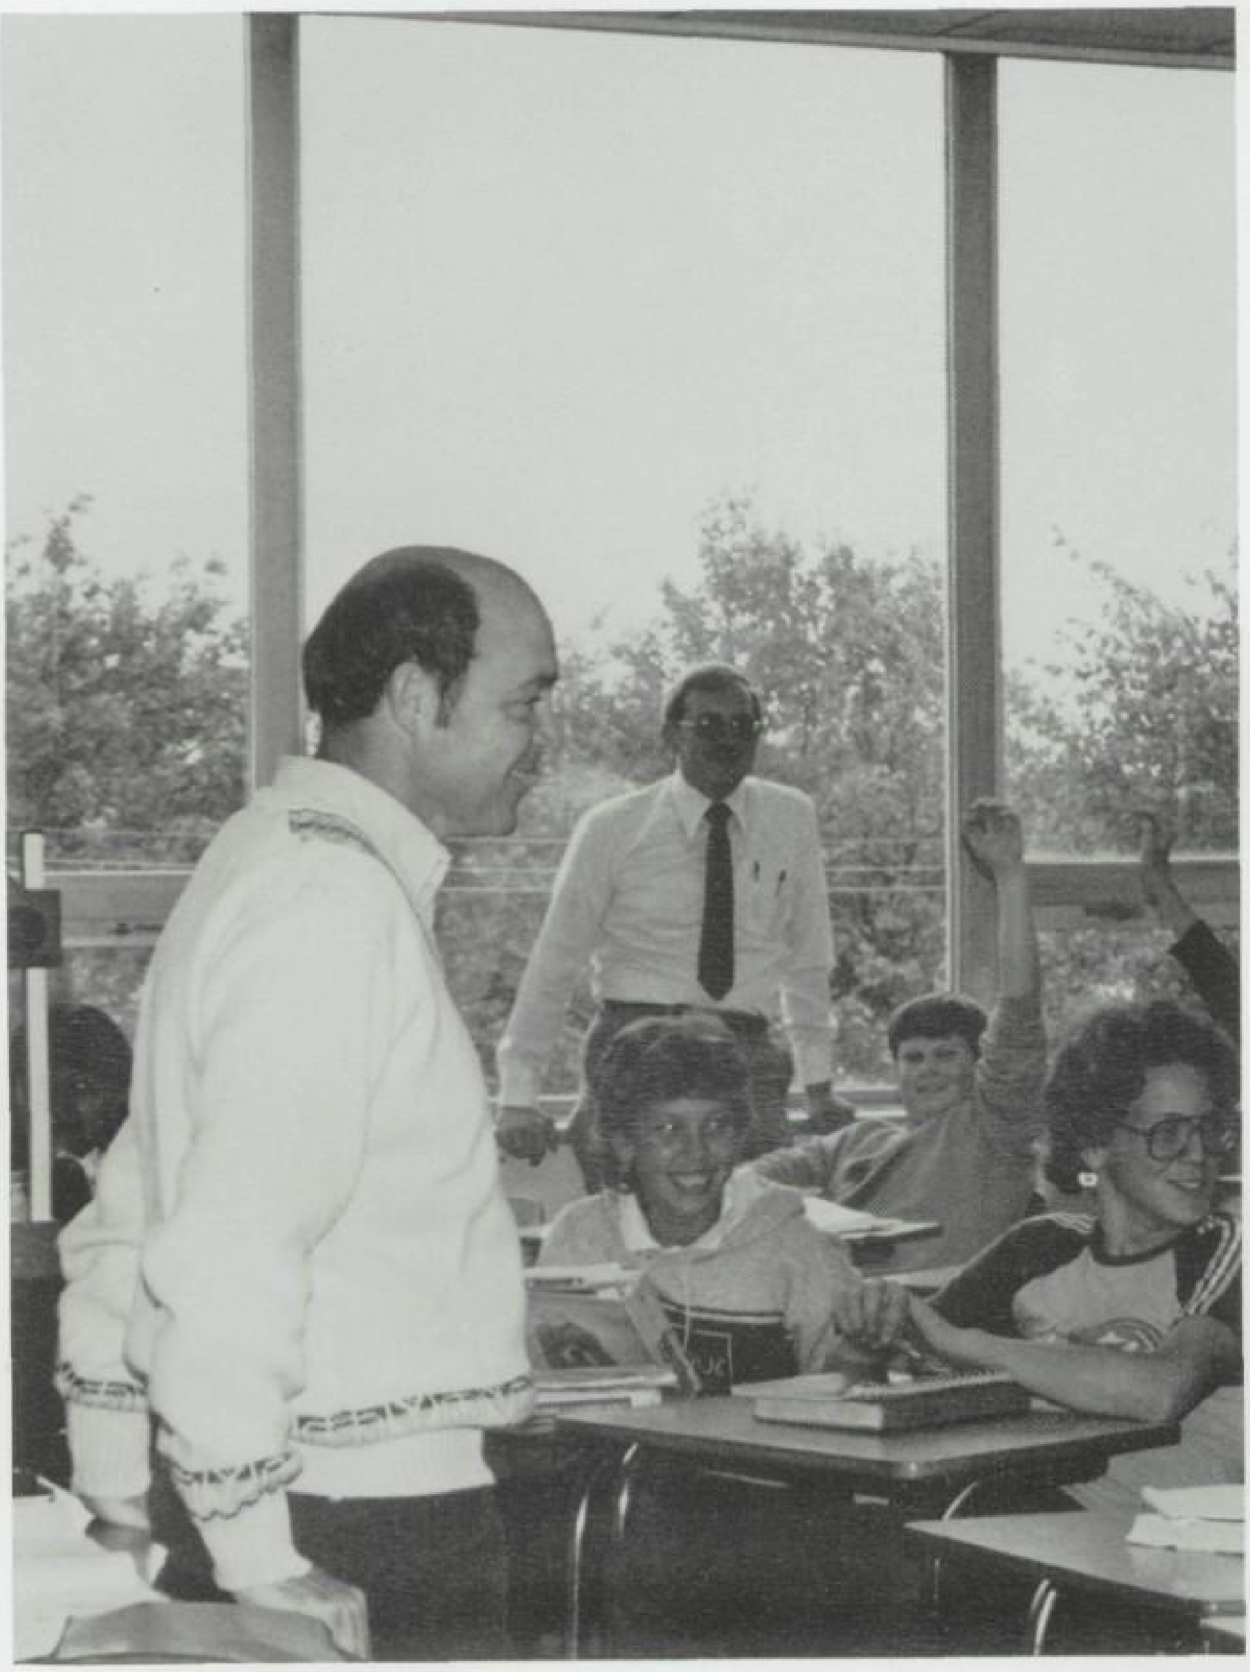
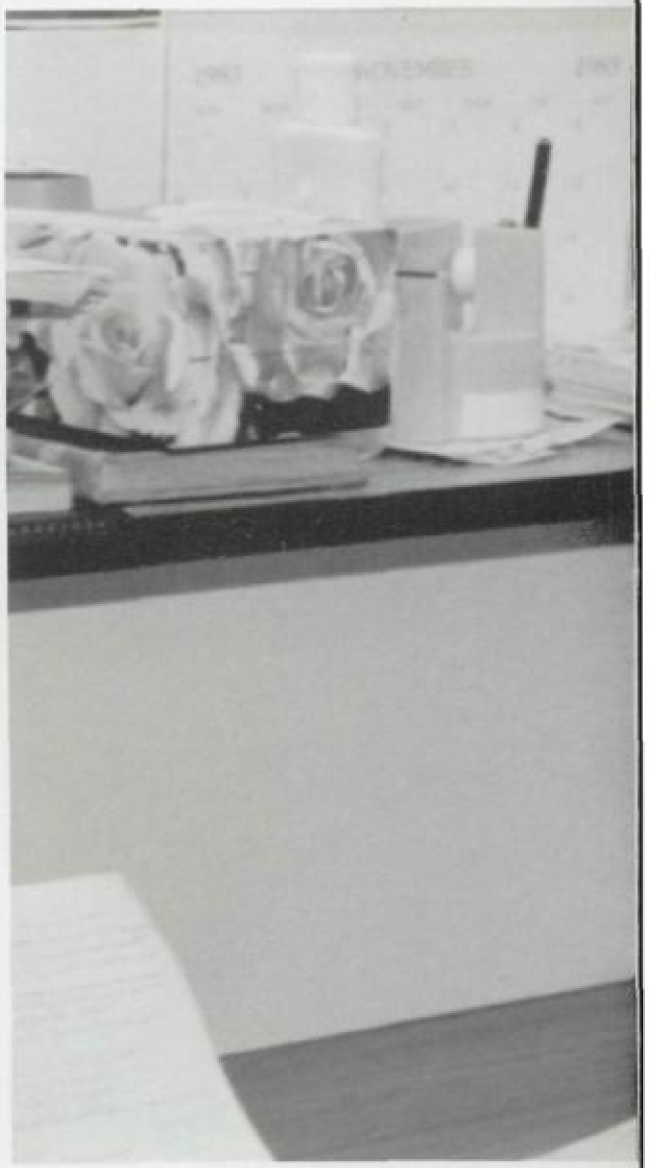
Special Help From Special People

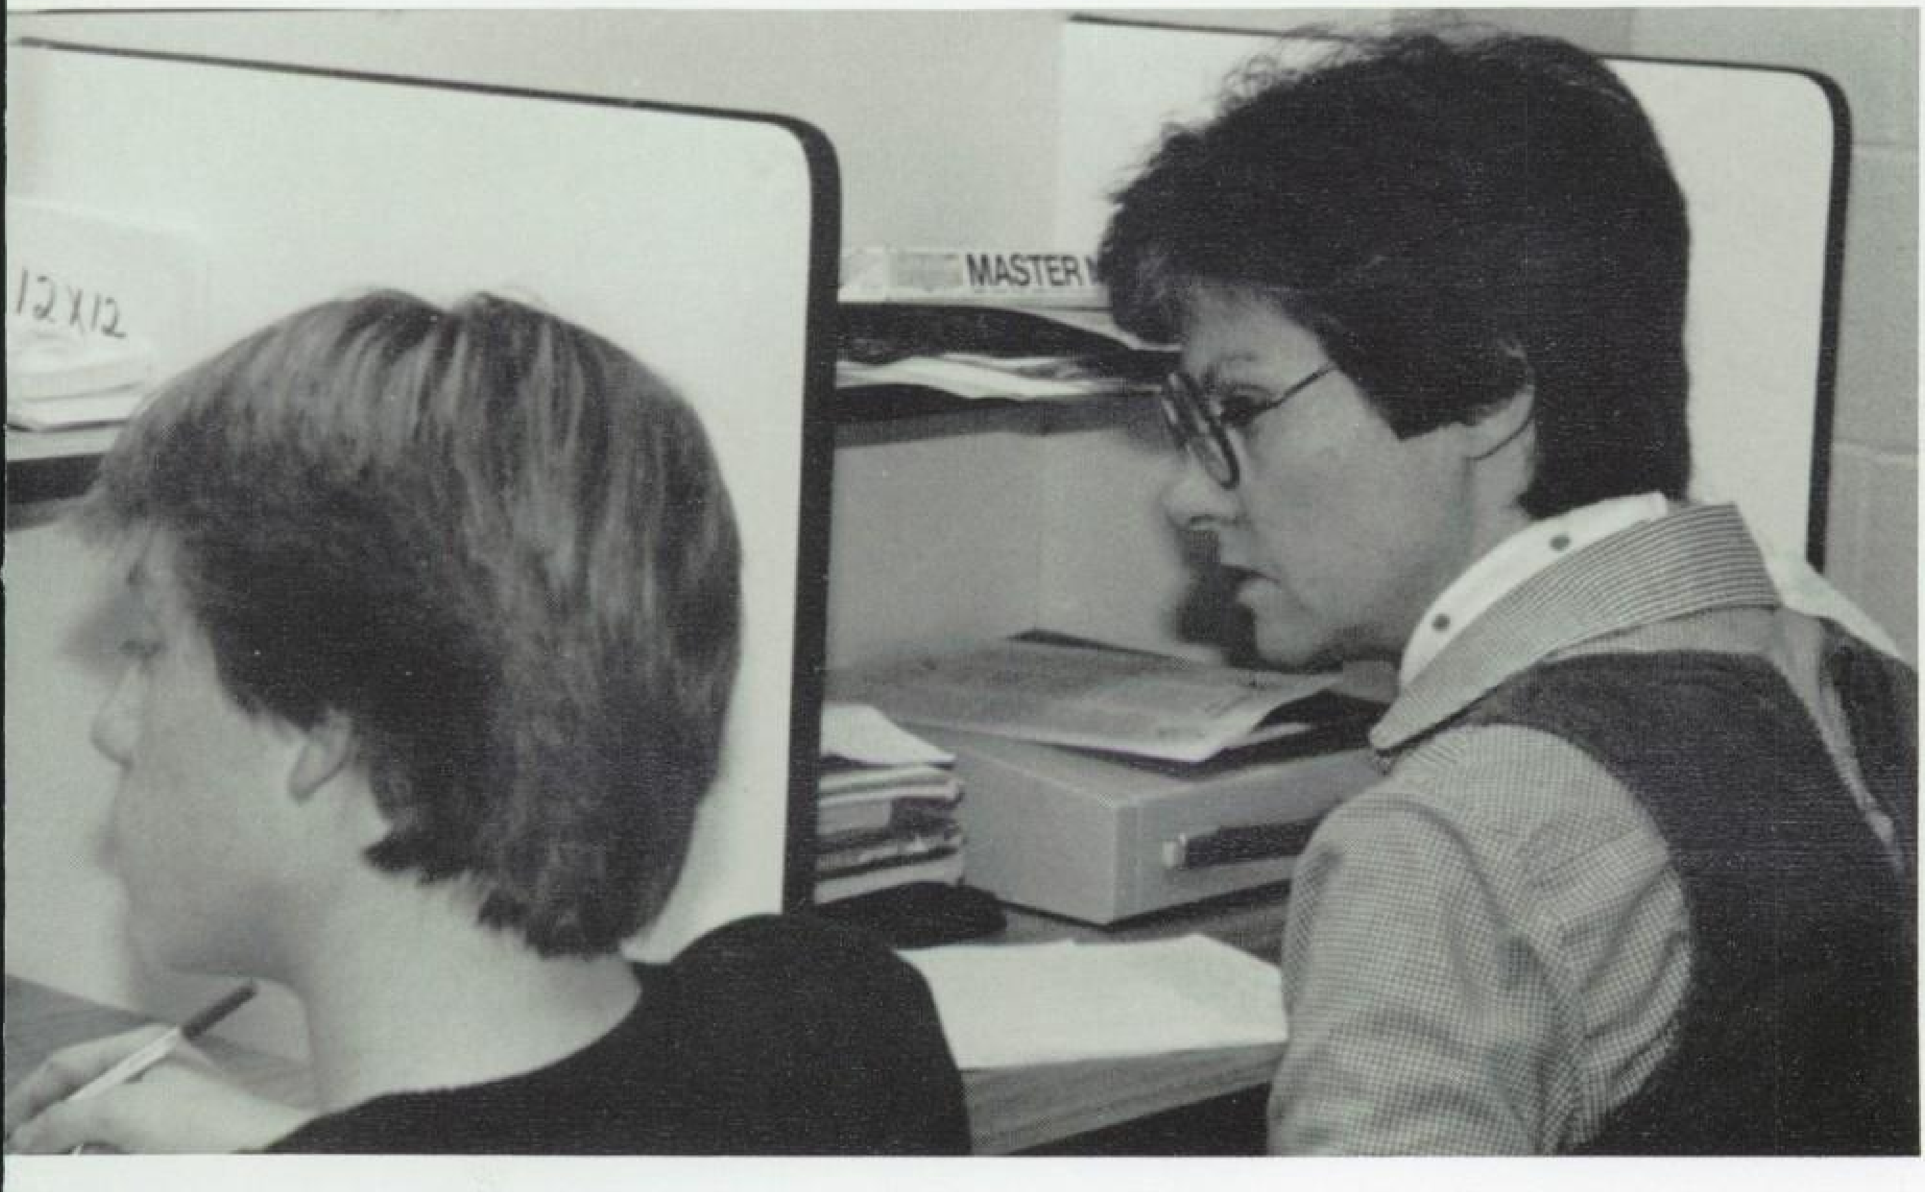
Every so often everyone needed a little extra help. Rossford High School provided that assistance with L. D. tutors and classes offered in adjusted cirriculum and occupational work adjustment. Vocationally-oriented subjects were included in the regular program. Guidance counselors, also, gave assistance by helping students with academic as well as personal problems. Through these services the needs of many students were met.

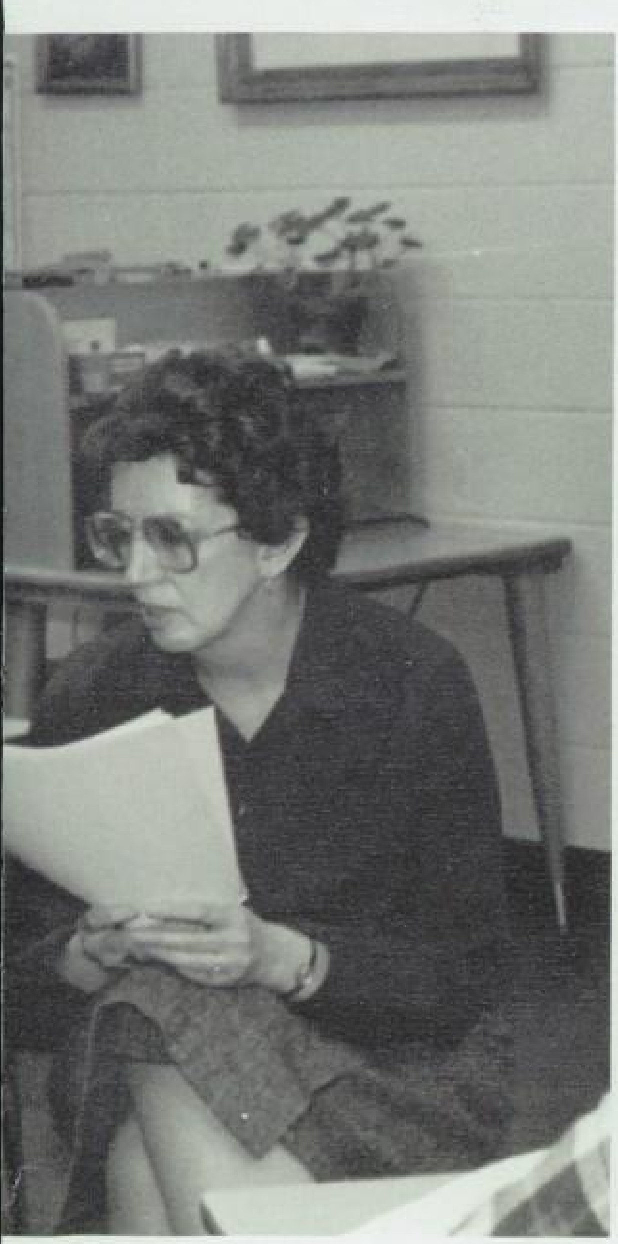


Showing his interest in the new seventh graders, Mr. Filiere acquainted them with the junior high facilities.



Getting some extra help from Mrs. Limpf to make science easier were Bart Thayer and Charlie Gyori.





Even on lunch duty Mrs. Faust gave advice to Lexi Neisler and Leslie Jacoby about next year's schedules.

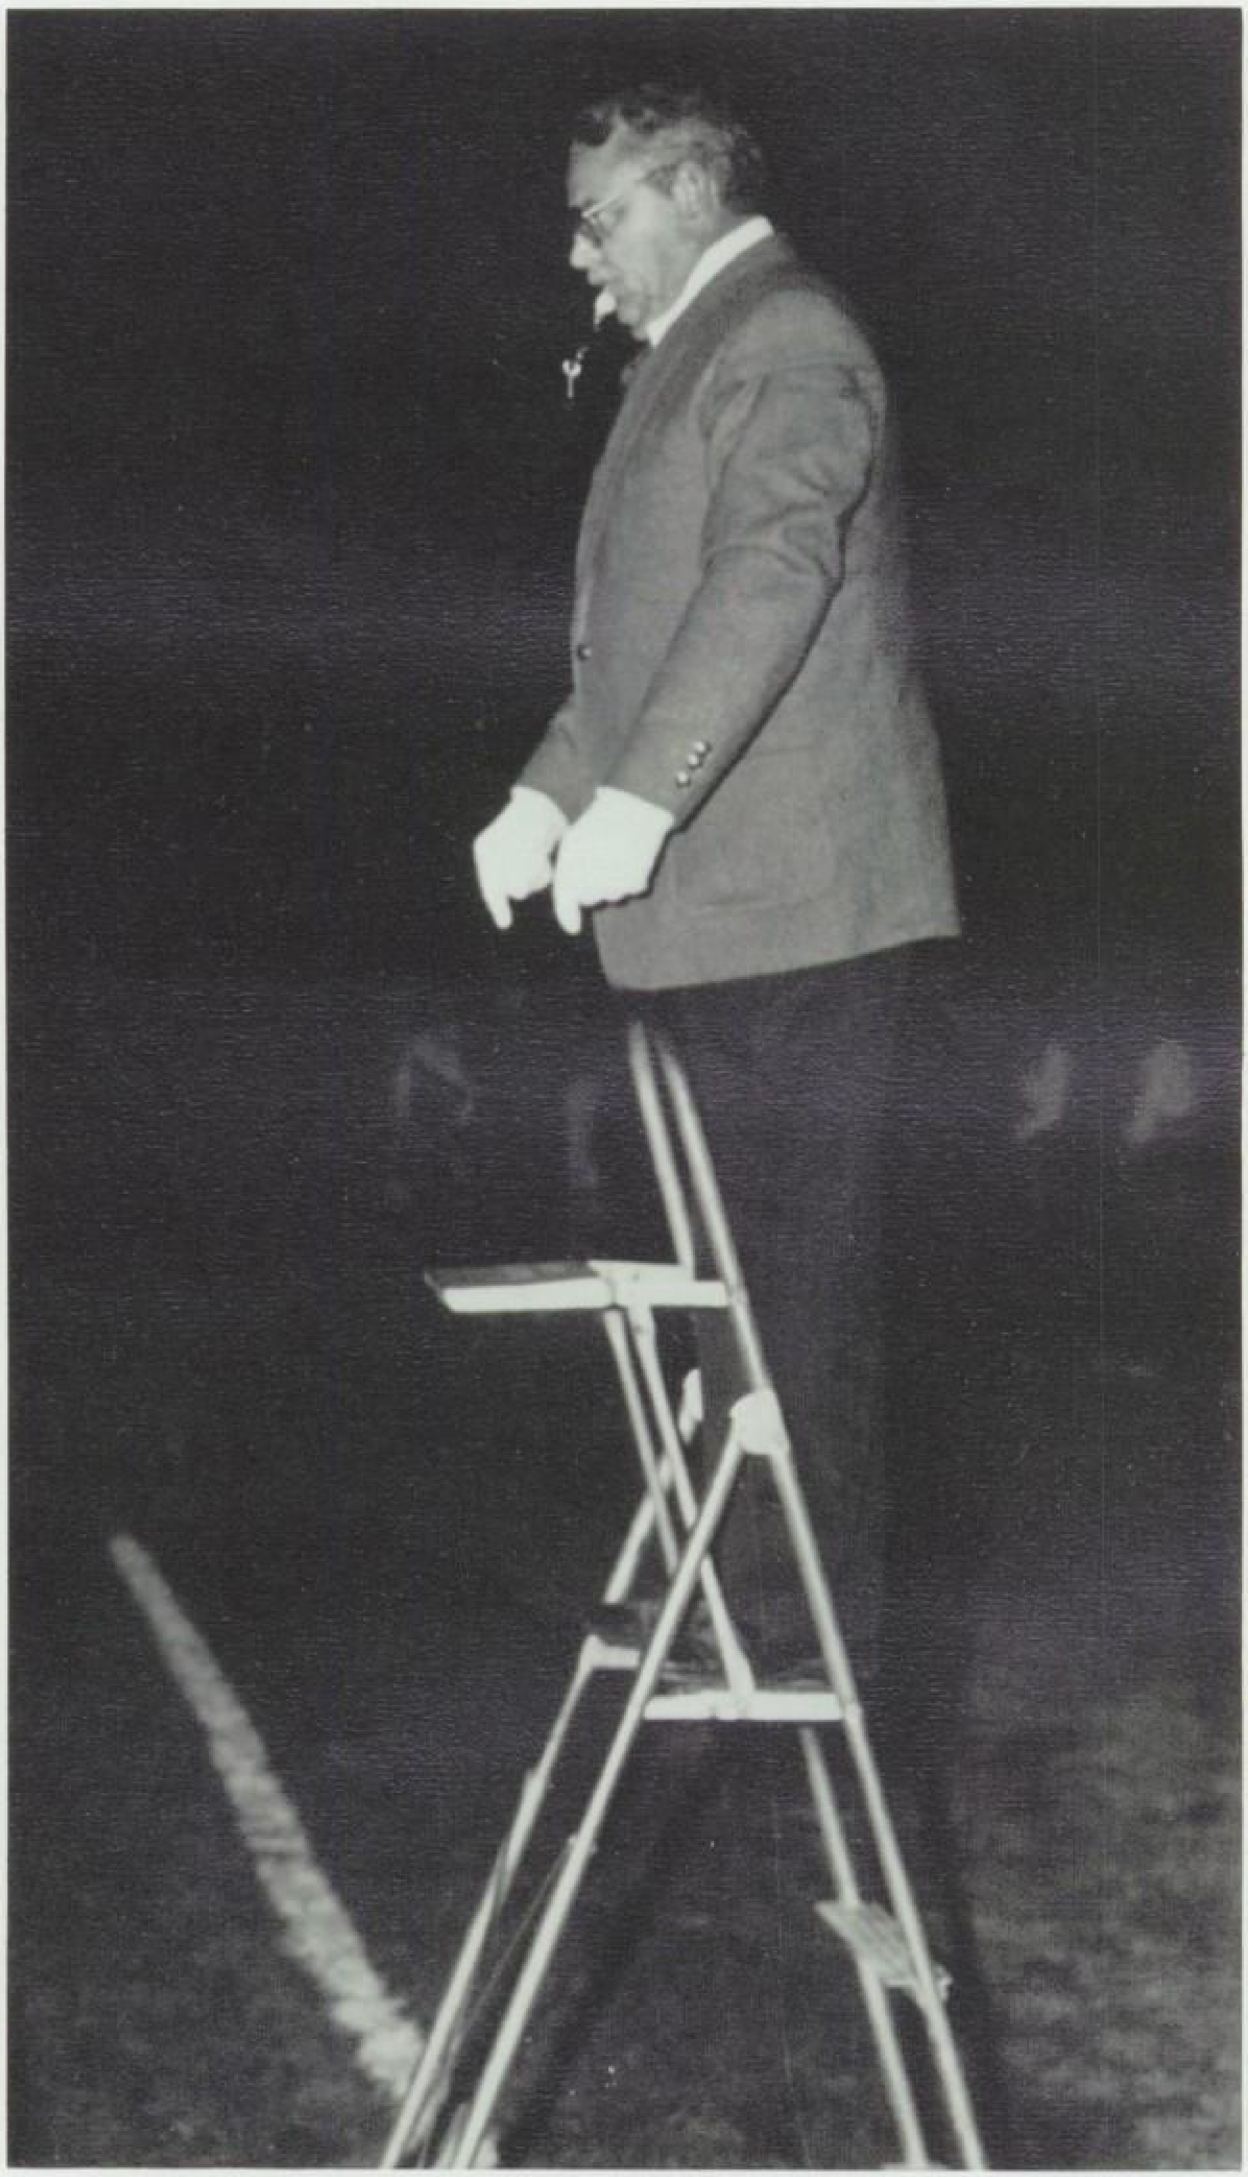
Statements read by Mrs. Neckers helped Dave Rinker understand his homework better.

Developing Individual Talents

In a student's lifetime he will spend much of his extra time doing activities he enjoys. Classes were offered to assist a student in gaining knowledge of his particular interest. Art, industrial arts, home economics, and music classes were a few elective choices a student could select. The time spent in school on the student's interests helped make school more enjoyable and helped the student better understand and develop his talents.

Extra Help was needed by Scott Handley, Mike Snow and Chris Pacer in their Orientation Home Economic class. At times Mrs. Hensley seemed to end up doing more of the measuring and mixing than her students.

Picture Perfect was what Mr. Matthews expected from his art classes. He helped Karen Mannon and Angie Westfall find some ideas for their "perfect" drawings.



"One, Two, Three and . . ." was heard by the Rossford High School Marching Band as Mr. Biler conducted them during halftime.

Exciting Hassle

"Be flexible," was a common term heard by the Language Arts instructors. This year they were introduced to a new wing of the building that meant moving books, hauling desks, and moving students, all on a one-day notice. English was important in every way to the students and helped in other classes besides Language Arts. More confident students did their best to obtain a second language. French and Spanish were their choices and some students in these courses were, also, active in clubs related to these studies.

Being on schedule was Mrs. Boggess' policy. "Hall passes after class work," was her answer to the question.

While reading the answers to a quiz, Mr. Tucholski explained why learning simple writing technics was important.

Sharing their interest students listened to Mrs. Washeck explain stage development in her stage craft and acting class.

Overcoming All Obstacles

Computers and computer science were no longer part of the future. Every day our lives got more informed about the purposes and importance of those square television screens, keyboards and printouts. To keep pace, five microcomputers were added as equipment for students and teachers use. Not only did students get lessons but teachers also met monthly for instructions.

One more detail of importance in the program was shown by Mrs. Matthews to Joakim Pettersson, an exchange student from Sweden.

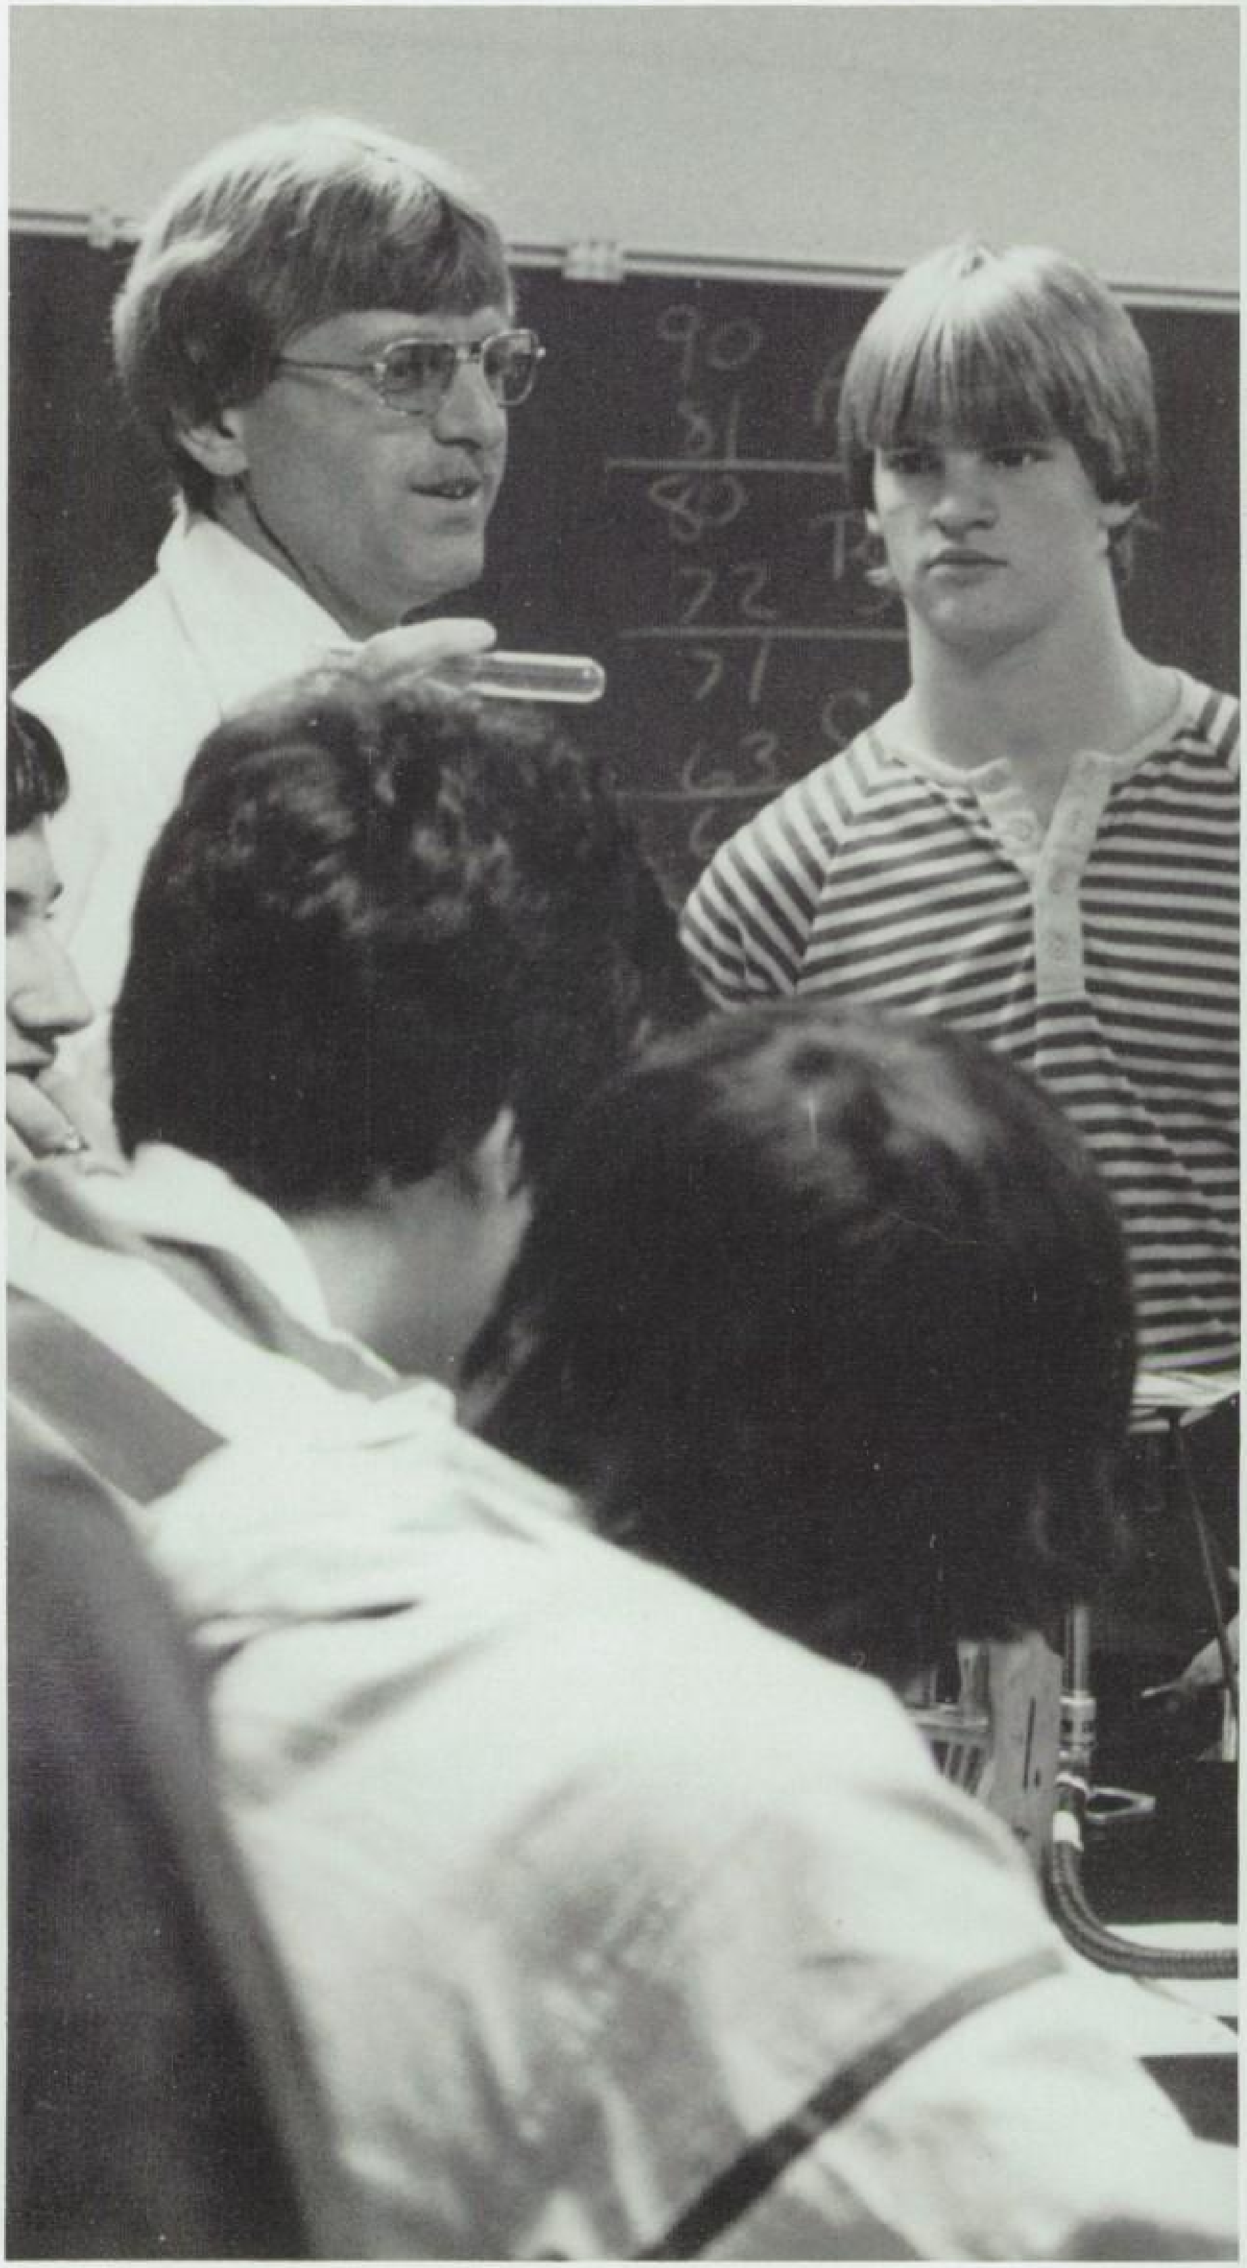
Expanding their knowledge, Mr. Anderson applies his abilities with the computers to help Marcy Ringle, Robbie Wayne, Danielle Olwick and Matt Vidra figure out the Commador techinque.

Faculty

Shaping Up

Becoming physically fit had become a way of life with many people. In the required physical education classes the students worked on keeping fit and exercising correctly. In Mr. DiJohn's required health classes, the freshmen learned how their bodies functioned and the correct ways to keep healthy. Many freshmen found this required class the most difficult of their entire schedule. But, with extra studying and extra credit most made the grade. Biology, chemistry, and physiology classes went into even more detail as the student learned how the body worked and how chemicals could effect it when one wanted to keep healthy.



Preparing the students for their disections, Mr. Koester reviewed the chapter on human cells.

Attentive listener Tony Dalton pays attention to Mr. Hamen while he explains how to do the bioloby lab experiment correctly.

Undivided attention was focused on Mr. Wimberly, as he explained cell crosses to an honors biology class.

The high points of a filmstrip on the heart were stressed by Mr. DiJohn.

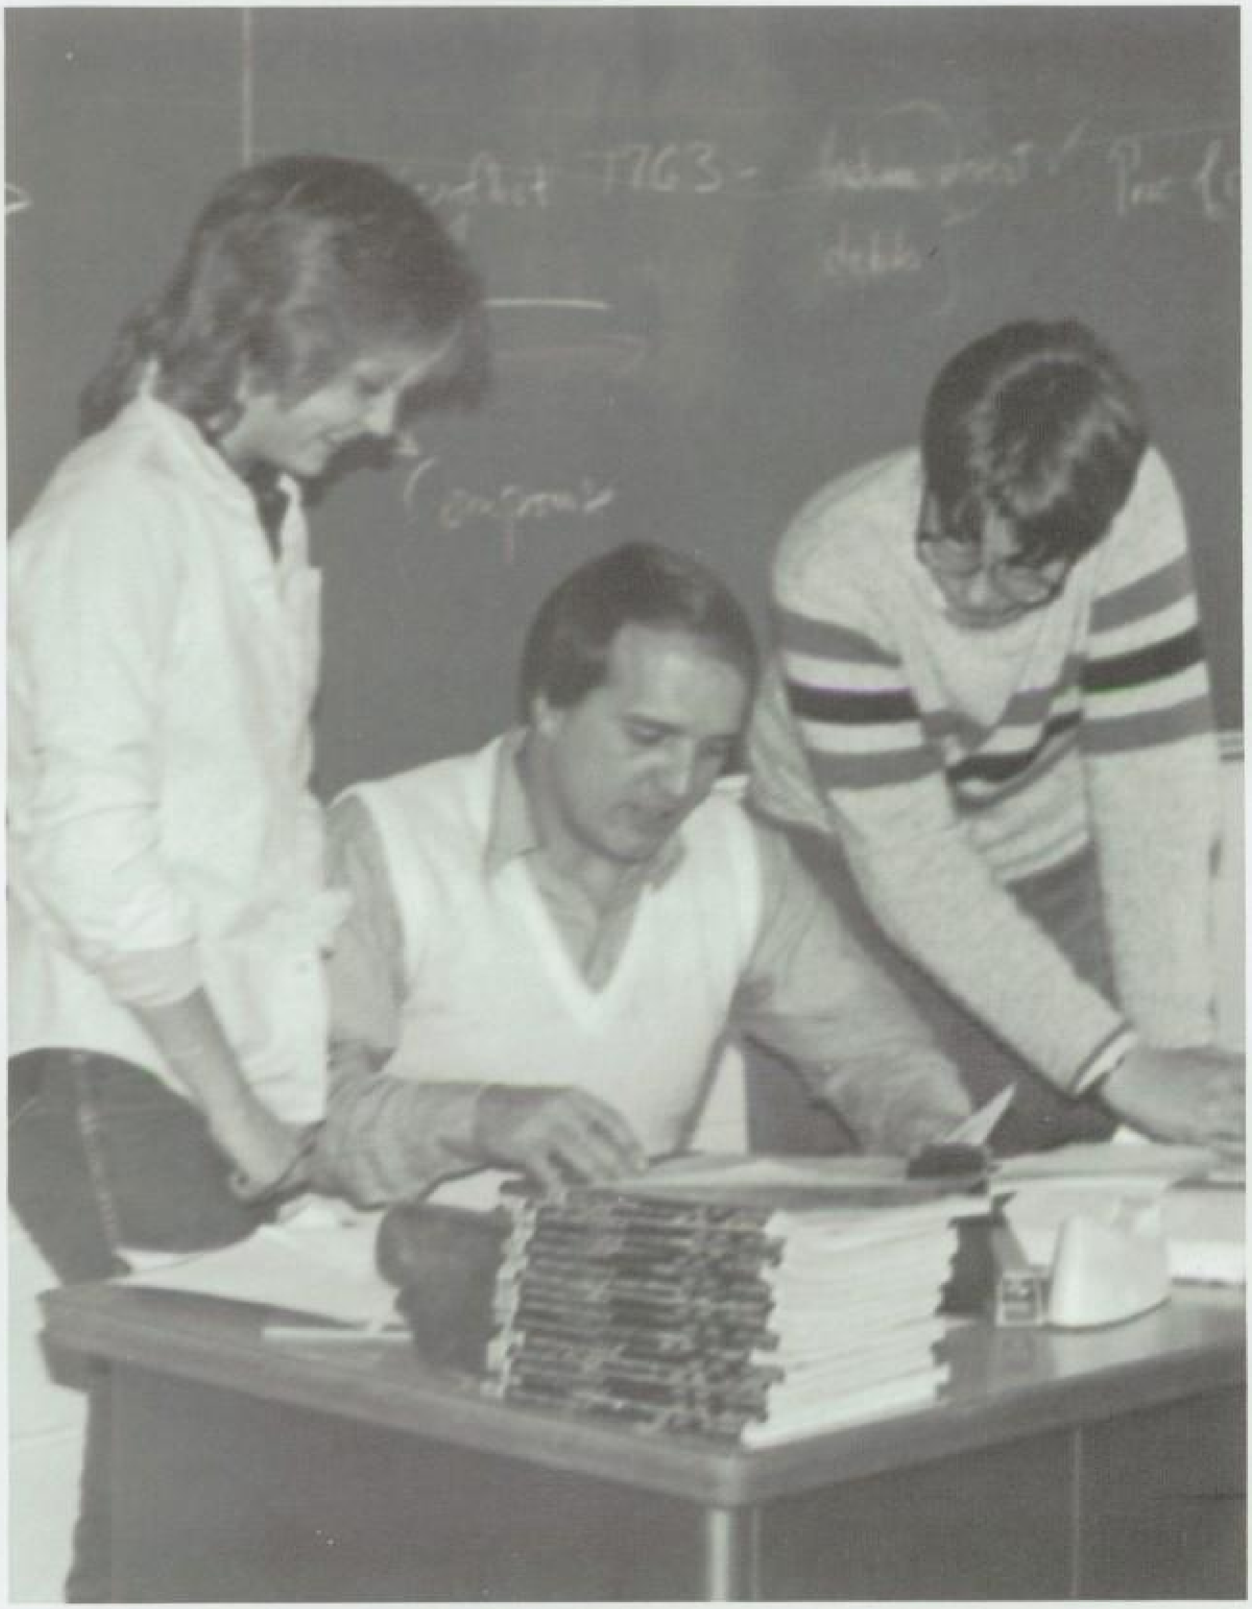
Enlightened On Social Problems And History

Everyone was aware that the world had many problems in the past year. Learning about those problems and their causes helped us to understand them. Junior high students studied geography to find out where many of the "trouble" spots were located. Courses in Ohio and American history followed. Seniors looked into social problems and the functioning of our own government. Posters and maps were designed to aid students in recalling the facts. Speakers and filmstrips on the current topics were also included to show how our current problems were the outgrowth of cultural and historic differences among people.



One quick question on British authorities posed by Bradly Taylor and Jenny Jessie got an answer from Mr. McCumber.

Events

Preparing for Royal Events

Unlike last year's idea of announcing the queen at halftime the student council went back to its old tradition. President Jodi Sattler ended the morning announcements with, "The 1983 Football Homecoming Queen is . . . Debbie Murphy!" Most of the student body immediately began with preparations that weren't finished until the cars holding the royal court were driven around the field and the girls stepped out to be introduced to the students and the alumni.

"Over there!" was one of the orders Mrs. Jaeger gave to Chris Gamble in preparedness for the homecoming dance.

"Sock it to 'em" was the theme for Tuesday of spirit week. Kathy Leganik seemed to miss the point as her bare toes are surrounded by the crazy socks of Tracy Curtis, Leann Schramm, and Cheryl Bohland.

Advertisements and announcements were posted everywhere to make students aware of the dance and to get them psyched for the game.

Practice made perfect when Troy Sattler and Jenny Jackson rehearsed with the band during fourth hour to make sure they knew what to do for halftime on homecoming night.

Led across the field by brother John, Queen Debbie Murphy flashed a royal smile to her friends.

Smiling happily, senior attendent Lisa Fix and escort Tom McKibben awaited the night's events.

On the arm of escort Dan Creps, senior attendent Kris Gwozdz walked across the field.

After being driven around the field, junior attendent Jennifer Jackson and escort Troy Sattler stopped for a picture.

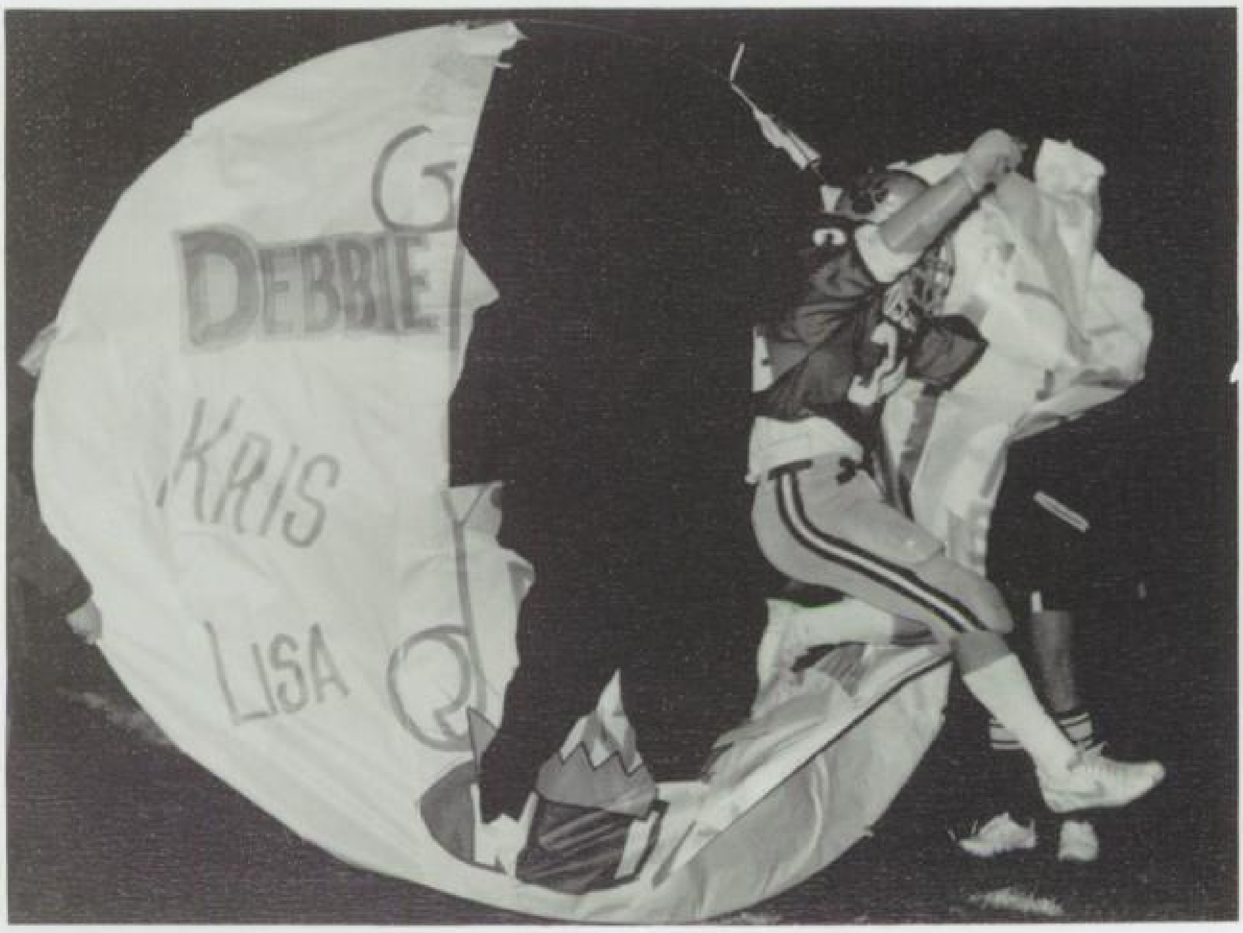
Football Homecoming

"An Autumn Affair"

The hard work put into preparing for the football homecoming proved to benefit everyone when the big event finally took place. The game was one of excitement from the start. The fact that the football team pulled off a 7-6 victory, defeating the Perrysburg Yellow Jackets, added greatly to the festive mood. This year the dance was held the evening after the game, and the students were entertained by the music of Stigma. Many students spent the evening dancing but little was cheek-to-cheek as the band's repertoire consisted of only one slow number among the otherwise hard rock which was played. All in all the football homecoming was certainly one highlight in the year.



Beginning with a break in the spirit hoop, Brian Romp started out the evening's activities with a lot of enthusiasm.

Let's boogie down! Jim Neisler got into the swing of things when he and Laura Williams took their turn on the floor.

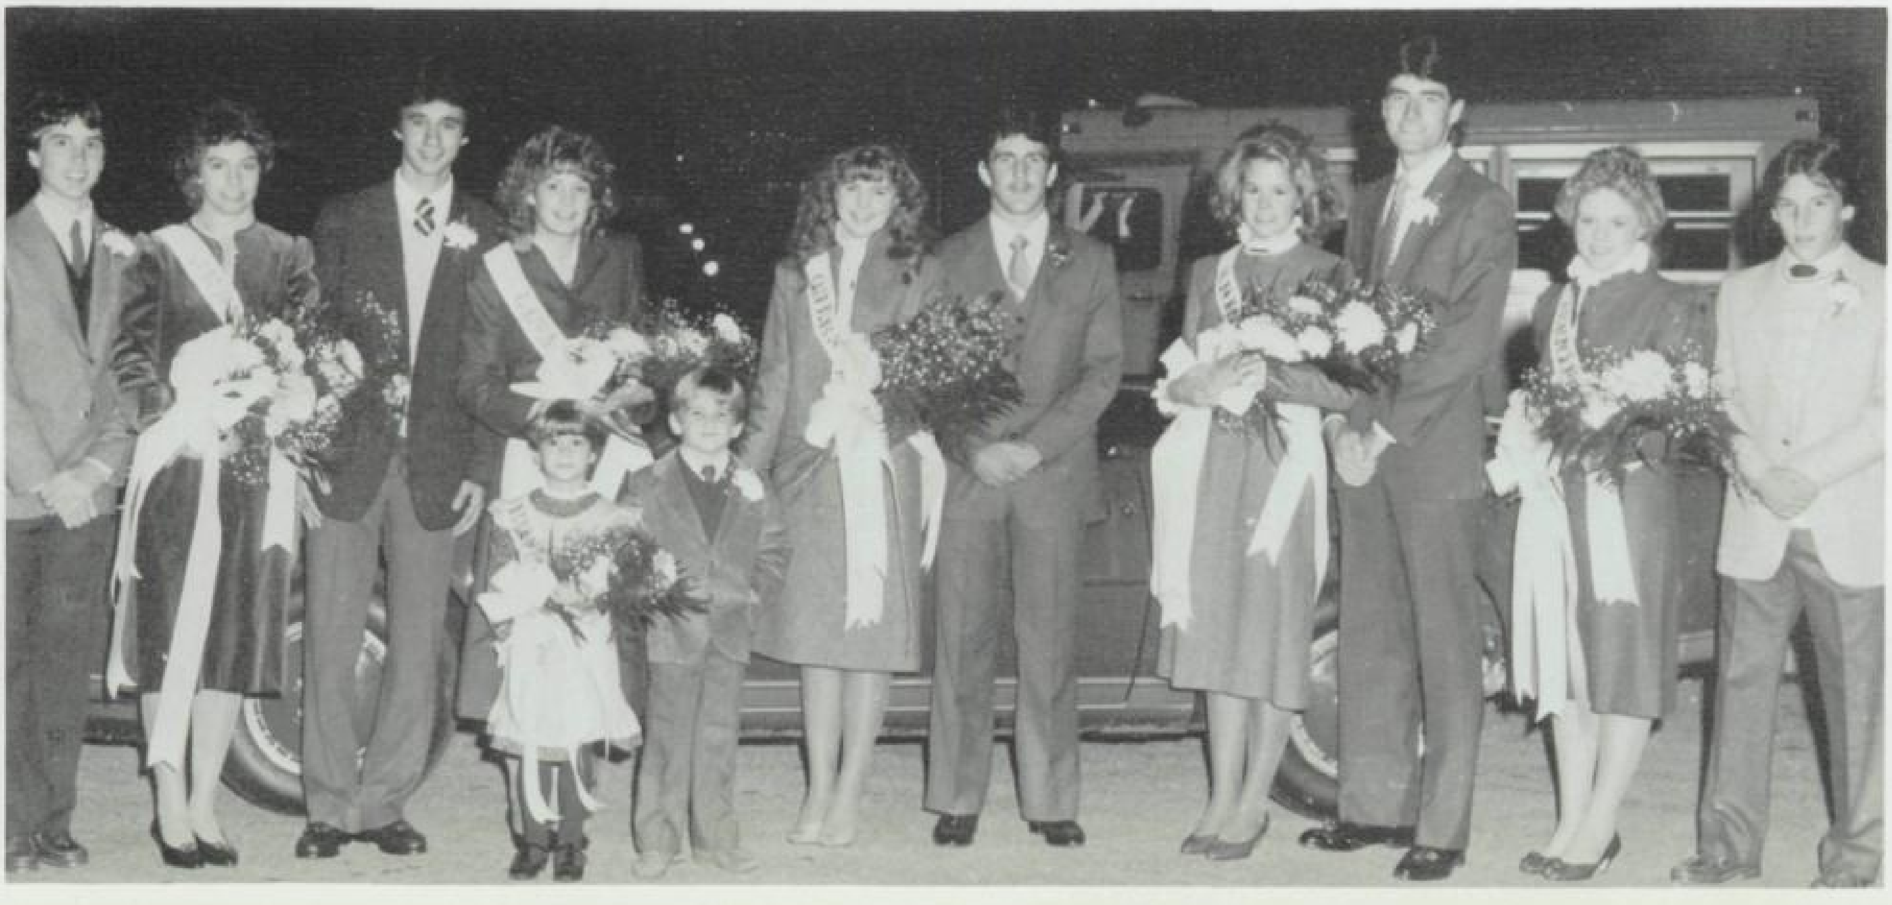
A show of paws for the Bulldogs was given by Rocky, the school mascot.

With a moment to remember the homecoming court: Troy Sattler, Jenny Jackson, Tom McKibbon, Lisa Fix, Jerusha Klena, Mike Murphy, Debbie Murphy, John Murphy, Kris Gwozdz, Dan Creps, Jenny Galernik, and Matt McCumber, managed to line up in the middle of the excitement to catch some of the memories on film.



Fall and Competition Plays

A Variety of Drama

The production of both the fall play and the competition play displayed the versatility of the Drama Club. "Dirtywork at the Crossroads" marked the first time that RHS performed an actual melodrama with an invitation for the audience to boo, to cheer, and to participate in general. It was performed in the new cafeteria but had a preview performance at the well-known Friar Tuck's in Maumee. After a success with the melodramatic performance, the Drama Club switched its attention to the more serious production of "Impromptu." This was performed for the Ohio Theatre Alliance festival held at Findlay College on January 21, 1984. The variety of the plays proved to be successful.

With a little direction from Mr. Wilcox and Marcy Ringle the audience was clued to exactly what its role was throughout the play.

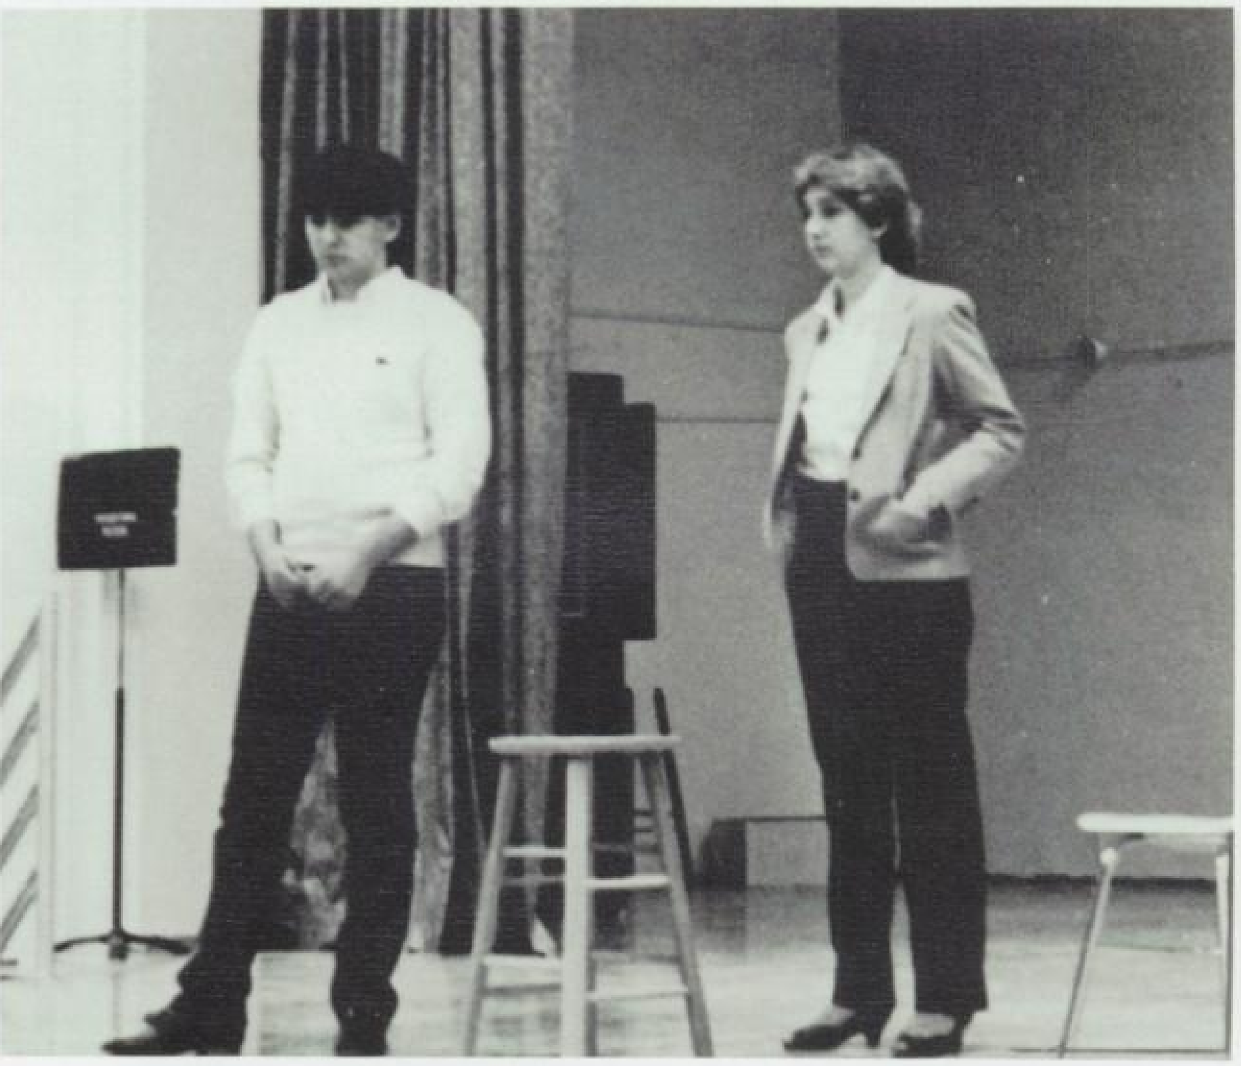
Tea time proved to be fatal for the Widow Lovelace (Brenda Vascik) as Munro Murgatroyd (Jeff Rodriguez) patiently waited for the poison to take affect upon the unsuspecting woman.

Agony and anguish was shown on the face of Ida Rhinegold (Michelle Barker) as she revealed her experience at Green Oaks Asylum to the sympathetic ear of Nellie Lovelace (Daralyn Rist).

Disgusted with Tony for leaving, Lora (Michelle Barker), Winnifred (Ellen Szorady) and Ernest (Tim Morris) waited for his return.

Preparing for Regional Competition, the cast of "Impromptu," Jeff Rodriguez, Ellen Szorady, Tim Morris, and Michelle Barker practiced "becoming" the characters.

Sharing a tender moment, Tony (Jeff Rodriguez) and Winnifred (Ellen Szorady) tried to understand why they were called together on this occasion.

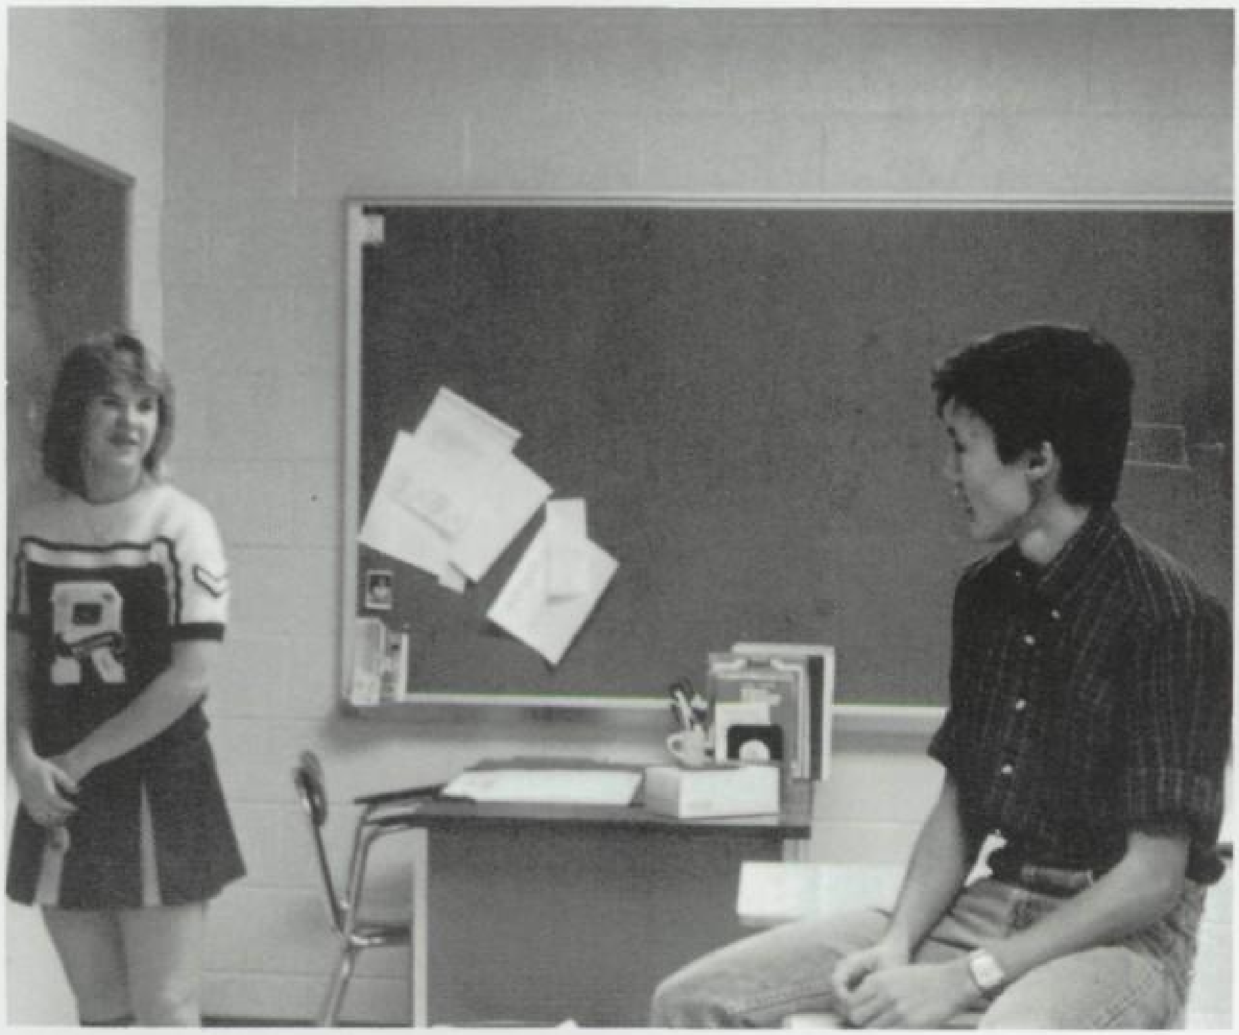


Basketball Preparation

Ready for the Dance

The work on preparations for the basketball homecoming had the school buzzing with duties of organization, publicity, and election of the court. Sophomores met many times after school in order to get the ball rolling. Announcements were made over the p.a., and signs were posted in every hall to get the message to the students from grades 9-12. The court practiced its duties for the big night and finally the event arrived. The preparation for the basketball homecoming found the entire school in anticipation for the festivities to occur.

Instruction was necessary for a successful ceremony as Mr. Tucholski gave Matt McCumber and Jodi Sattler a few words of advice for their part in the activity.



Deciding on the theme for the dance, Gretchen Rust didn't appear to be too positive about the current topic that she and Steve Kachmarek were working on.

Knowing its only practice Don Jackson and Sandy Anderson took the time to goof off a little.

Class participation by the sophomores was evident during the decoration of the gym. Danielle Olwick and Tracy Curtis lent a helping hand on a early Saturday morning.

Elected to represent the student body as the 1984 Basketball Homecoming Queen was Miss Jodi Sattler, who was escorted by Mr. Matt McCumber.

Serving as attendants were (clockwise from top right) senior Sandy Anderson and escort Don Jackson; junior Tonya Fountain and escort Dave Coronado; sophomore Marnie Hutchinson and escort Matt Vidra; and freshman Missie Sanders and escort Rob MacKinnon.

Basketball Homecoming

"A Winter Romance"

From the night of the game to the night of the dance, the basketball homecoming was a smash. The crowning of the 1984 queen took place between the J. V. and the varsity games, which let the royalty watch from the platform made especially for them. The dance, held the following night, was attended by many students. Almost all who came to the dance did so after dinners at various restaurants, leaving the entire evening to spend dancing to the music by Swift Kick. At the close of the night everyone went separate ways with fond memories of the 1984 basketball homecoming.

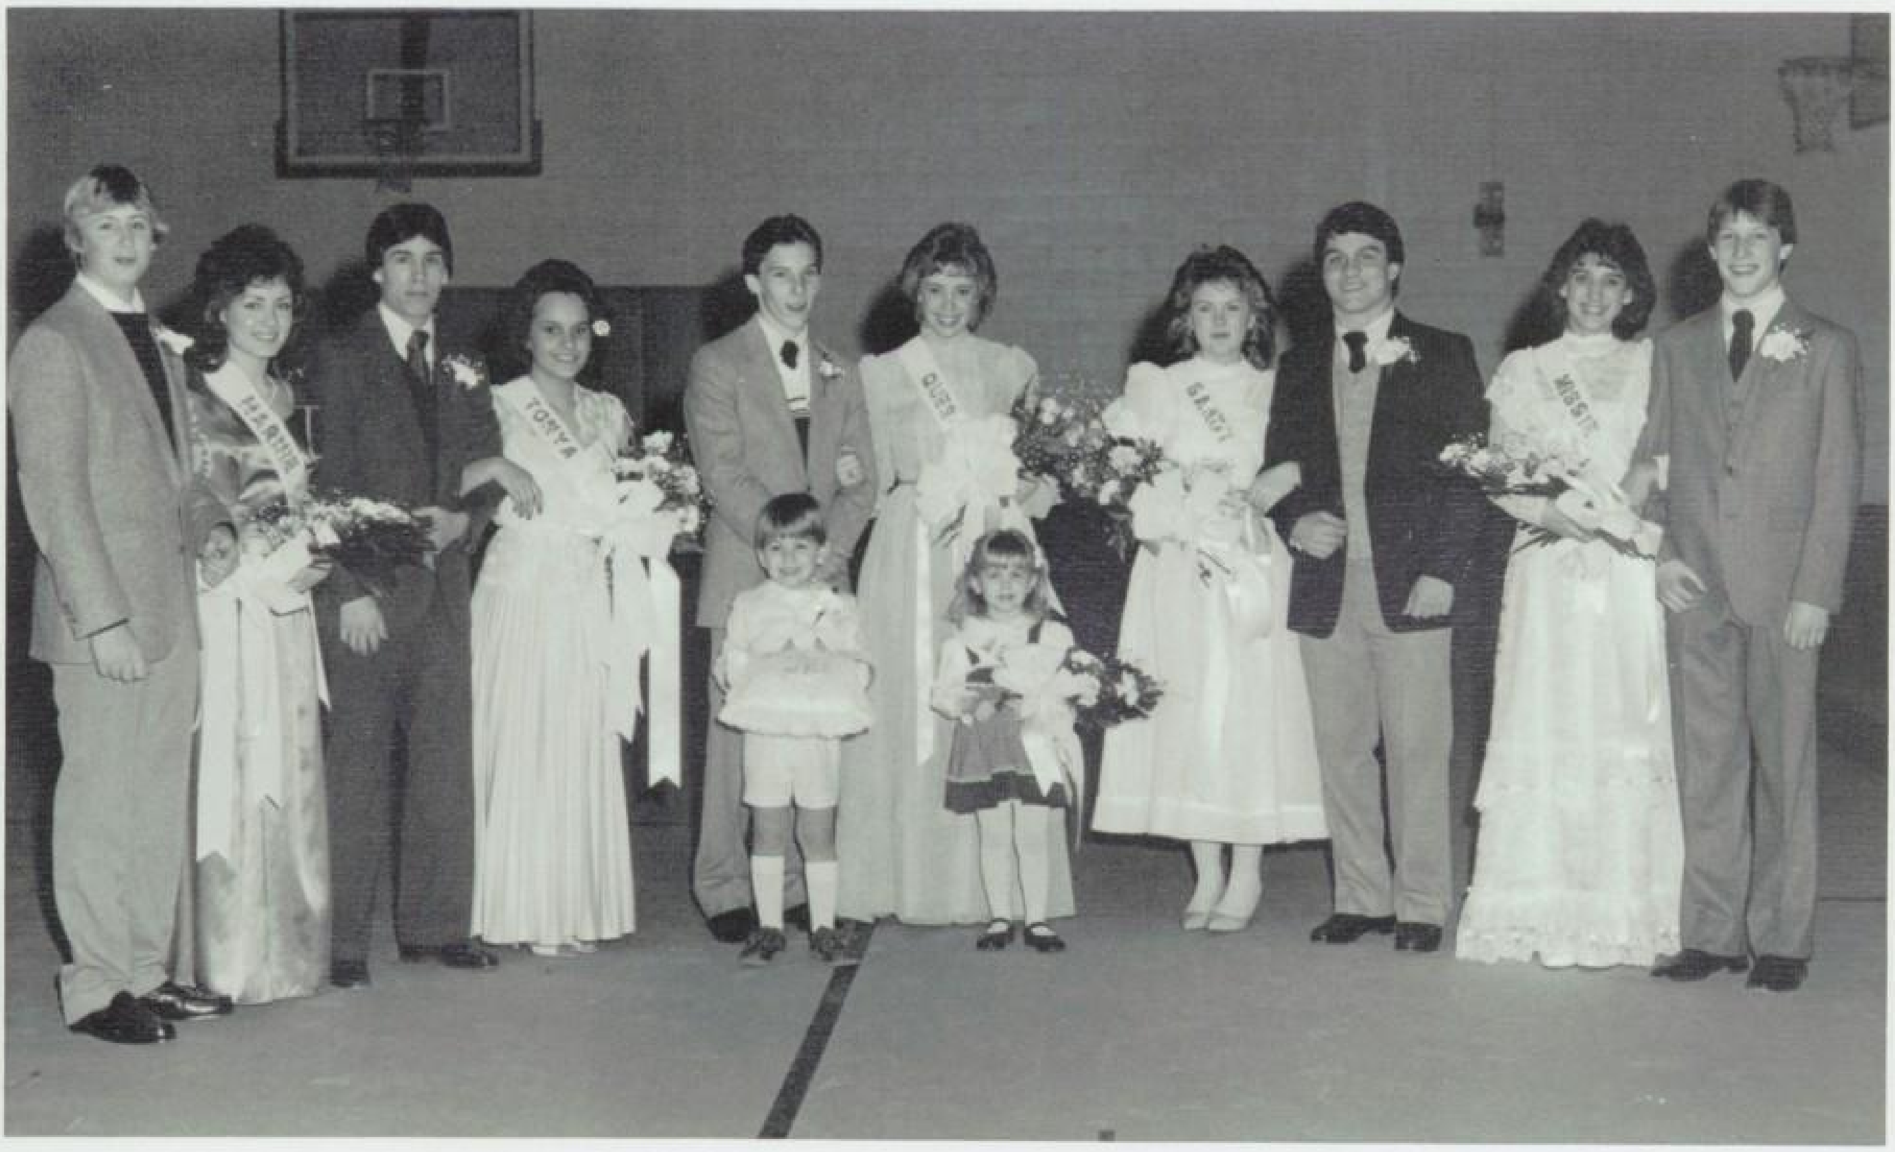
Clowning around for the camera Tony Plicinski, Brian Romp and Neil MacKinnon released their inhibitions as they stopped by the punch bowl for refreshments.

Making music, Swift Kick provided a range of songs for the night's entertainment.

With a moment to relax Brent Lauer and date, Marge Badik, and Bob Bailey took a break from dancing long enough for a chance to flash their pearly whites.

A smile from the sleigh showed the fun Jenny Machcinski and her date had at the dance.

Royalty routine was expected of Matt Vidra, Marnie Hutchinson, Dave Coronado, Tonya Fountain, Matt McCumber, Jodi Sattler, Sandy Anderson, Don Jackson, Missie Sanders, Rob MacKinnon and little crown bearers, Hunter Schwinn and Ashley Skiees.



Construction

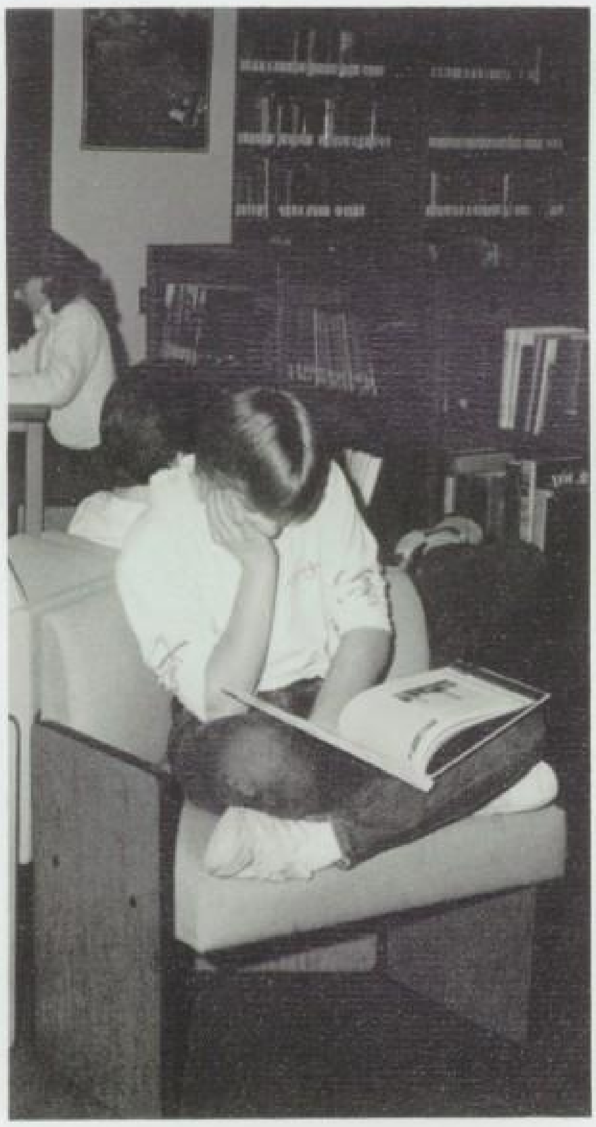
Completed

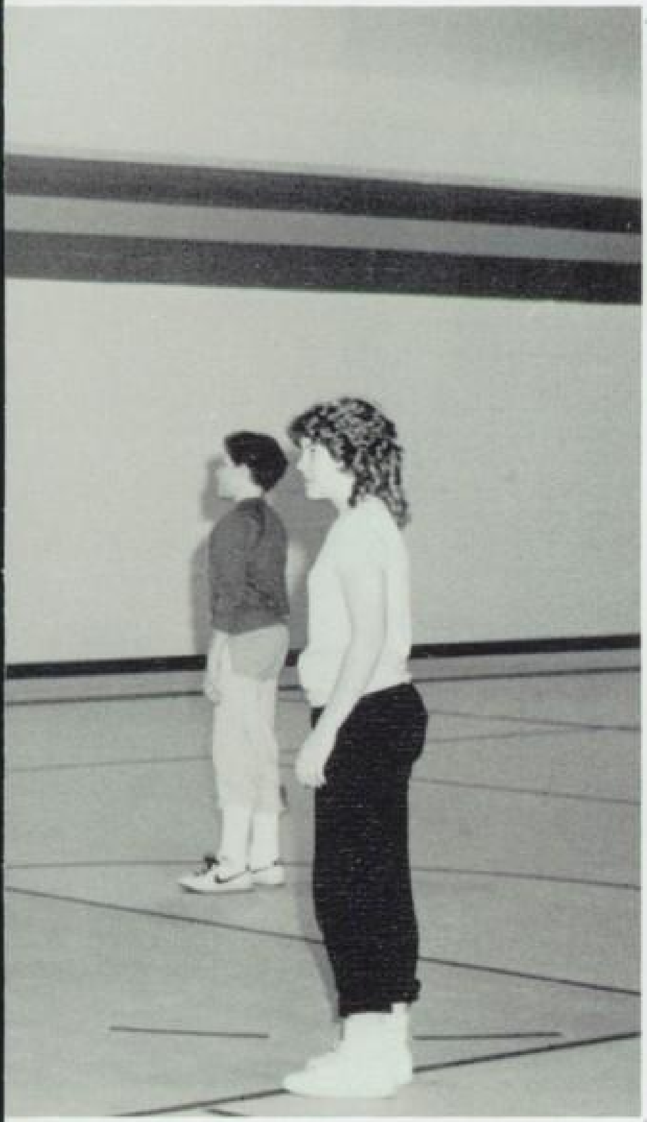
The construction and remodeling that began in November, 1982, were completed and in use for the first time during the 1983-1984 school year. The cafeteria, previously the old gym, was ready for operation on the first day of school; unlike the library, which wasn't in service until early December. Slowly, the new classroom addition was filled with students as rooms were finished. The first entertainment held on the new, enlarged stage in the auditorium was the band and choir's Christmas concert.

A new entrance led the path to the new gym.

A comfortable position was found by Chris Gamble as he caught up on his reading in the new library.

Warming up for a basketball game was a gym class as it held class in the new gym.





Lunch time, in the new cafeteria, was a time to socialize with friends.

In the lobby of the new gym were Michelle Montague and Paula Dalton getting a drink before phys. ed.

Showing her proud mother the certificate of membership, Shelley Mierzejewski explained the privileges of a National Honor Society member.

The membership book was signed by Brian Combs as he officially recorded his admittance into N. H. S.

Relief and happiness were shown on the faces of Patty Badik and Michelle Kornasiewicz as Michelle received the colors of the society.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIET

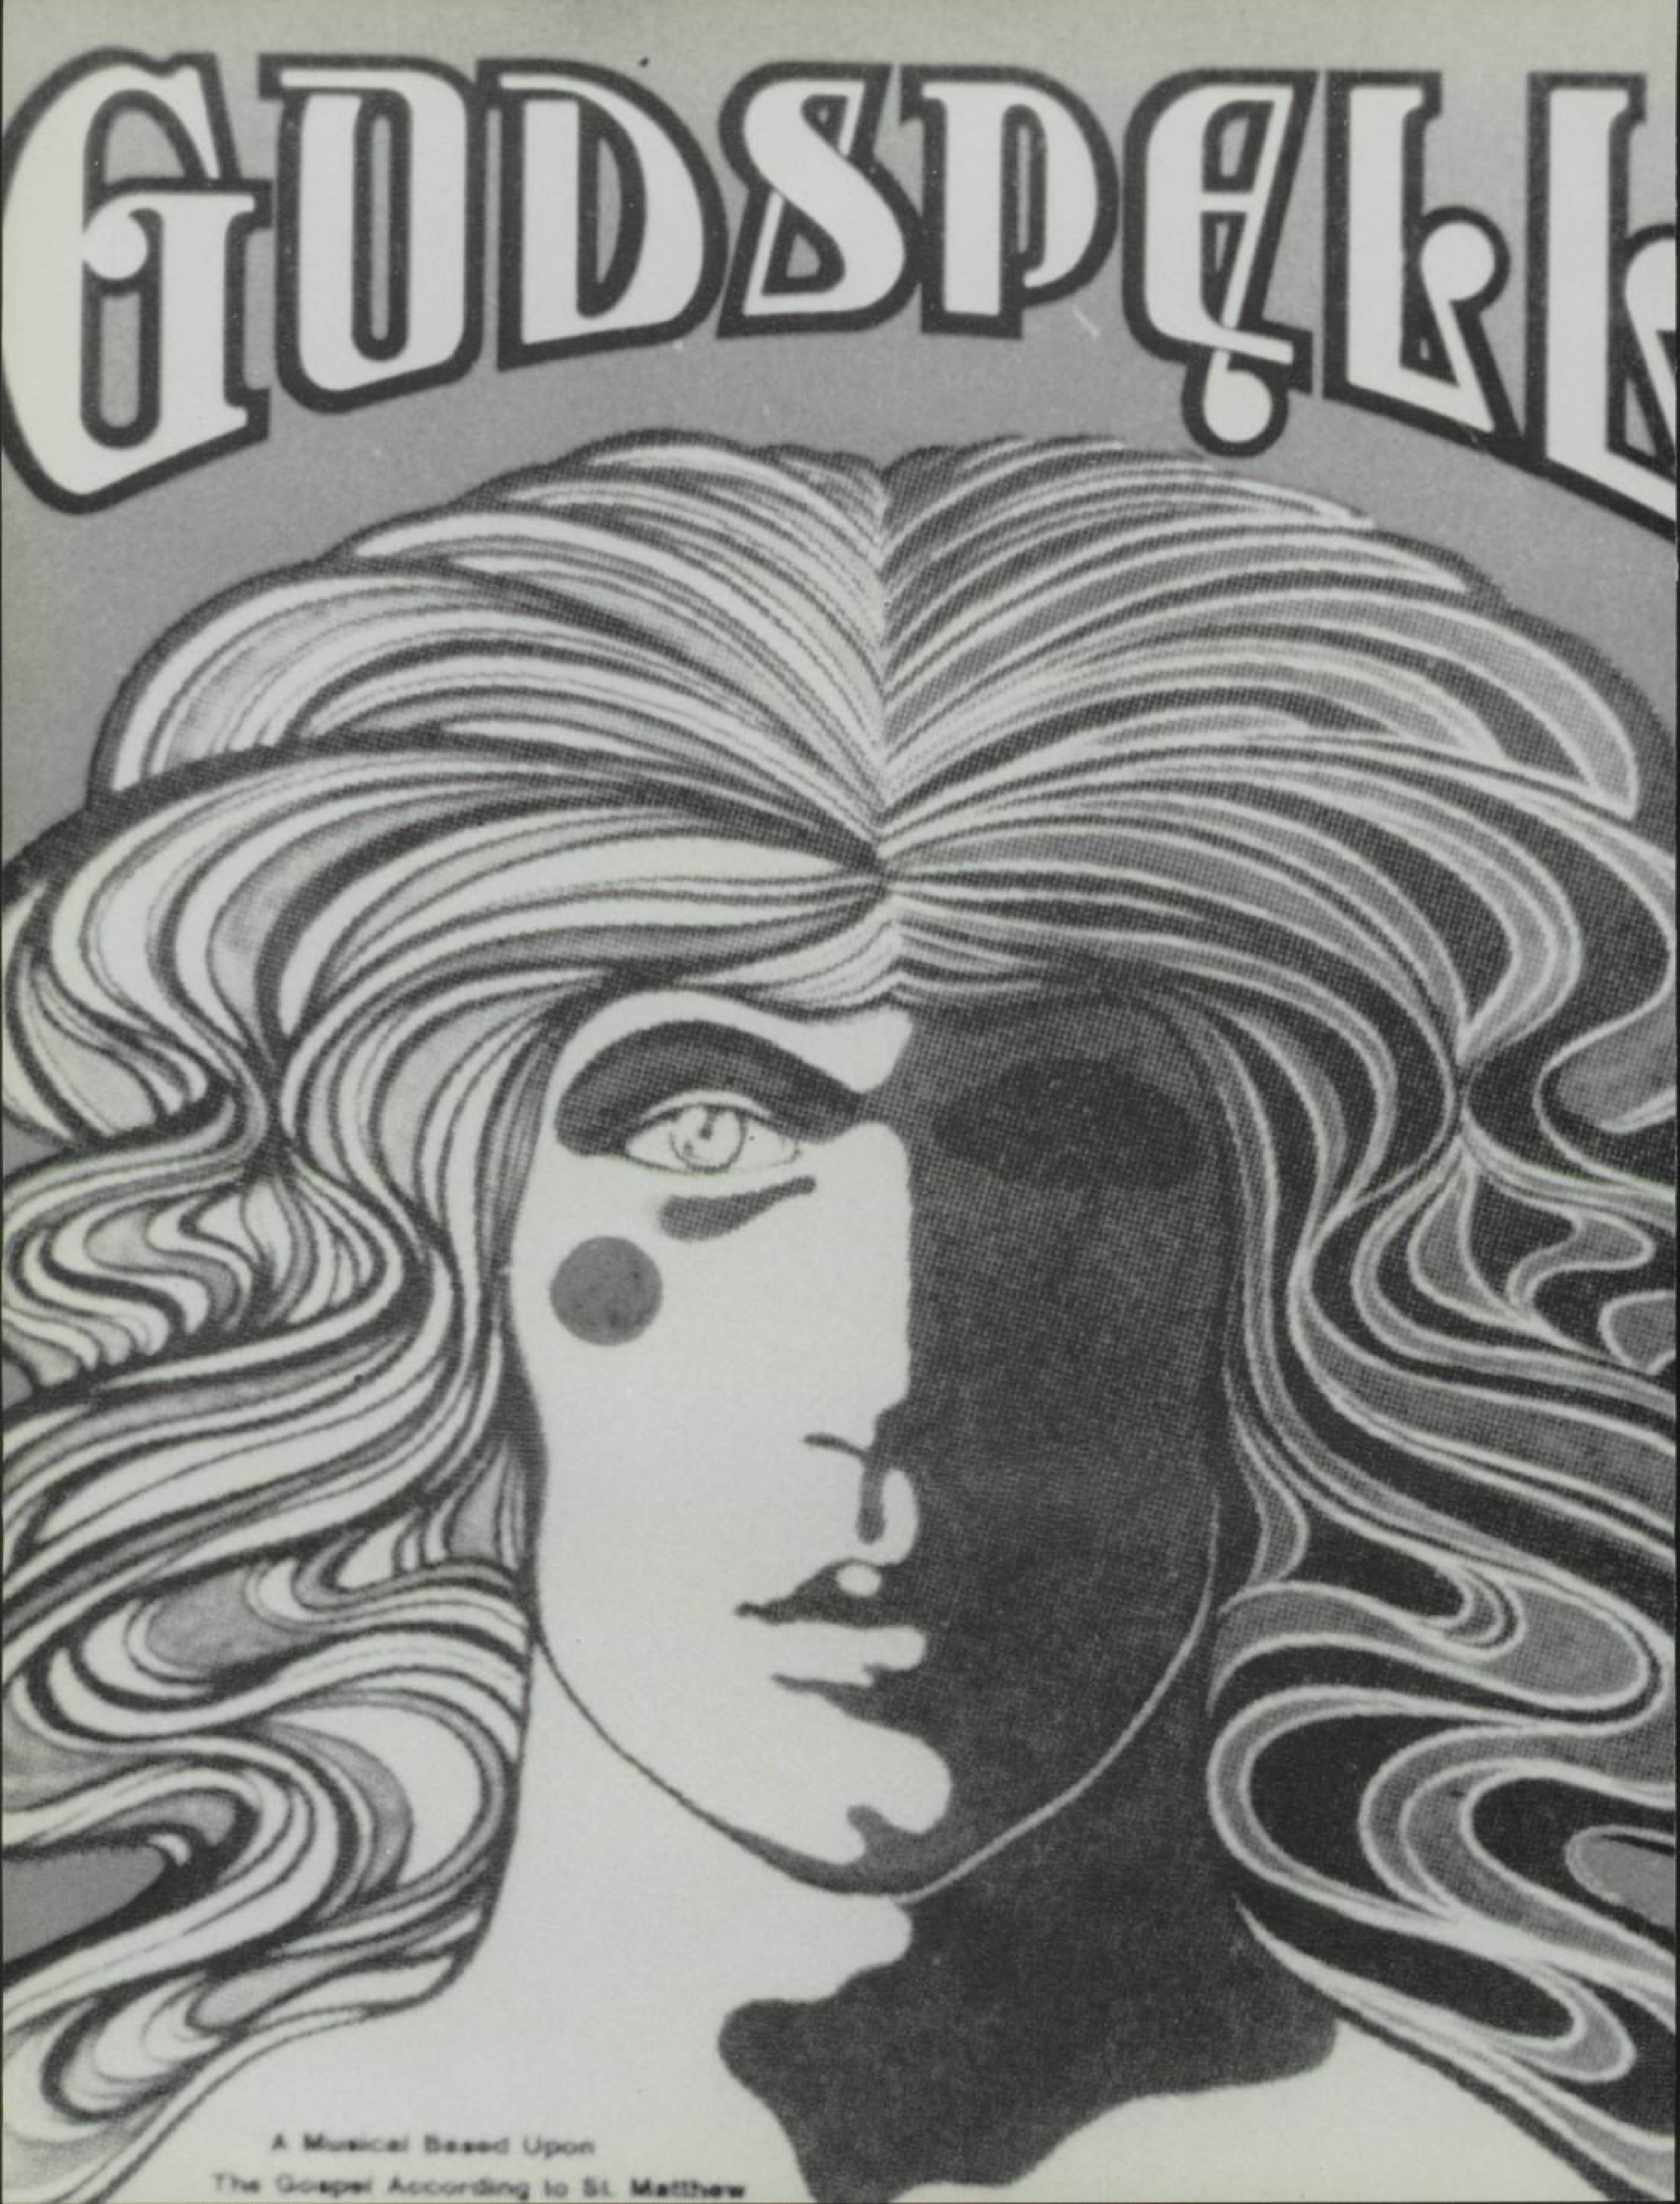
An Honored Occasion

Being in the National Honor Society was an honor for the students who were specially chosen for membership. Many aspects were taken into consideration when the decision was made by the members of the teaching staff. Not only did the applicant have to have an accumulated grade point average of 3.4, but the applicant also had to display leadership, character and service. The candle-lighting ceremony finalized the induction of each new member. Each student found it a personal achievement to be inducted into the most prestigious organization at RHS.

FIRE DRILL
TORNADO ALERT

Master of ceremonies Matt Young welcomed everyone to the school and hosted the evening's activities.

Knowledge and truth were represented by the light of the candle which Sue Holzman passed on to Matt McCumber during the ceremony.



GODSPELL
A Musical Based Upon
The Gospel According to St. Matthew

Auditioning

Students auditioning for "Godspell" had to endure quite a different audition than they had previously gone through. Both Miss Washeck, who directed the musical for the first time, and Mrs. Barrow, vocal director, supervised the auditions. Auditions were held on February 22 and 23. Auditions in the past had always been completed in one day. Miss Washeck chose instead to spread the auditions over a two-day period. This allowed time for students to learn the music and to participate in improvisational warm-ups. On February 23, the final audition, the cast of ten actors was chosen.

Interpreting a parable, Michelle Barker's expressions tried to relay the meaning, both during rehearsals and performances.

Testing make-up designs was an important task for Jeff Rodriguez, as he applied one design to Cindy Perkins.

An improvisational dance was taught by Miss Washeck for part of the students' audition.

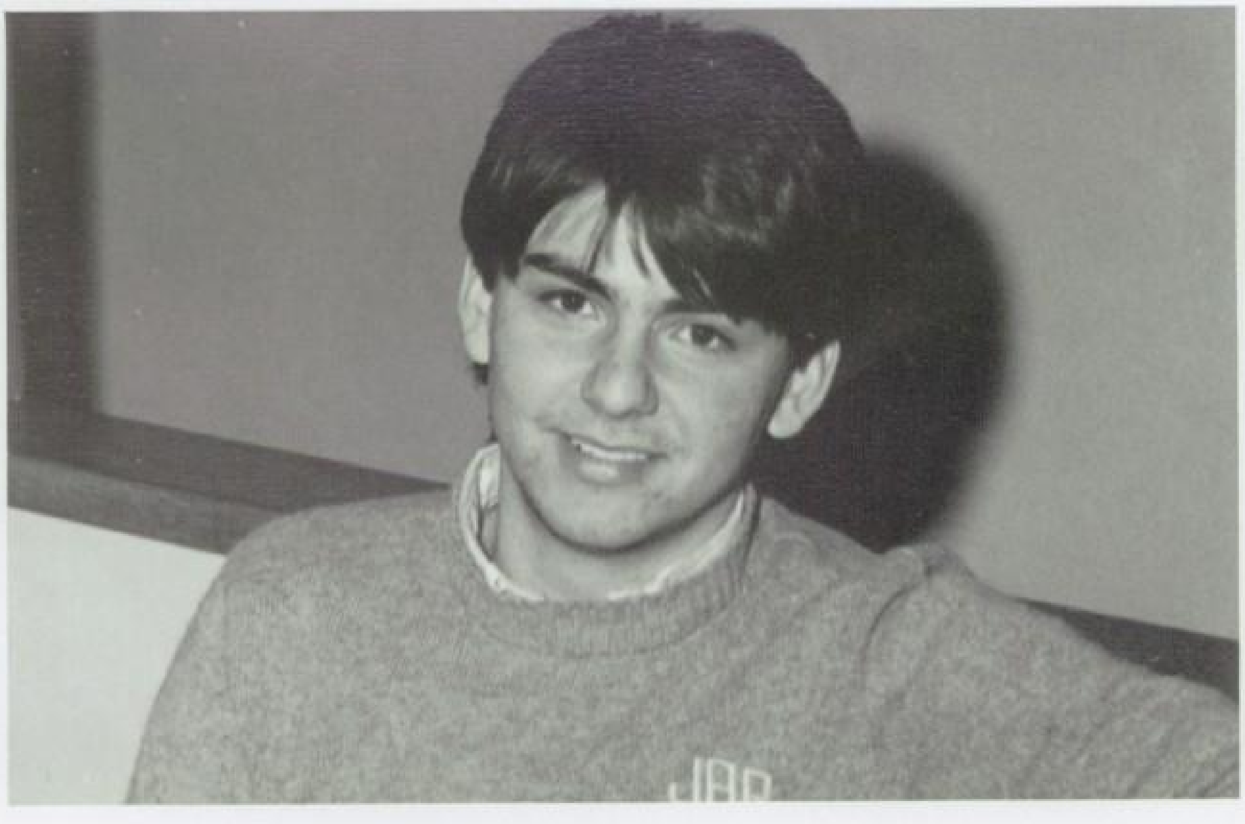
Outstanding Students

Many honors were achieved by students this year. Those honors or awards were given out in various categories. These categories include leadership, music, scholarship contests and academic achievement. The students were chosen for outstanding participation in at least one of these categories. Many of these awards allowed the students to attend colleges for weekends or weeks to attend seminars and listen to speakers that hold high positions in society. While attending these lectures and seminars the students learned more about themselves and their areas of specialty.

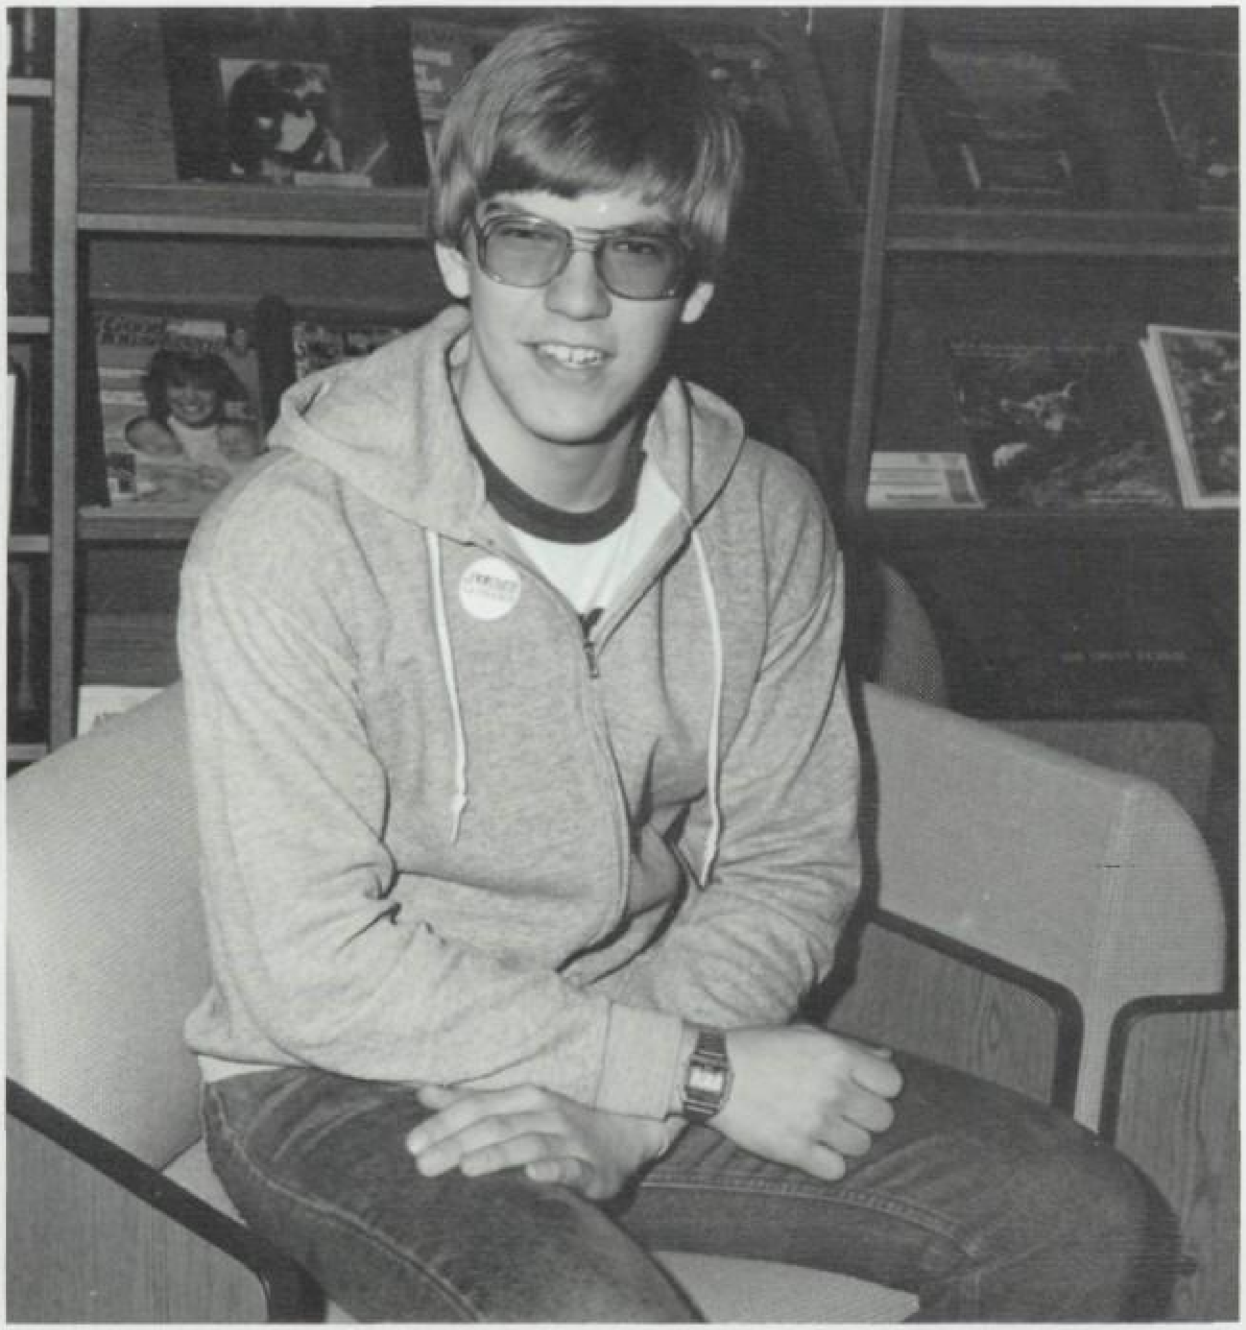
Recognized for leadership was Laurie Yeack as she was chosen for the Hugh O'Brian award.

Chosen for the All-Ohio State Fair Band was Matt Young.

Attending Martin W. Essex school for the gifted was Jeff Rodriguez.



Contest winner Dawn Mikulak was chosen from Rossford High for The Daughters of the American Revolution contest.



A member of the All-Ohio Youth Choir was Scott Caro.

Semi-Finalist for the National Merit Scholarship was Brian Combs.

News Makers

Fads and Fashions

The school year of 1984 was filled with many memorable events. "The Day After," a movie which was viewed by many students, brought about several questions about nuclear war which were discussed for days. Like "The Day After," the Cabbage-Patch-doll craze became another news maker. No one could resist adopting the pudgy, lovable kids; and shoppers even lined up in front of department stores for hours in order to get a chance to buy these babies. Along with the talk of these fads, it was evident throughout the corridors of the school of numerous fashion preferences. The outfits ranged from preppy plaids and argyles to camouflage greens and jean jackets. 1984 was a year filled with special events, fads, and fashions.

Posing for his infant photo, Jethro, a Cabbage Patch doll, was adopted by the Stolars.

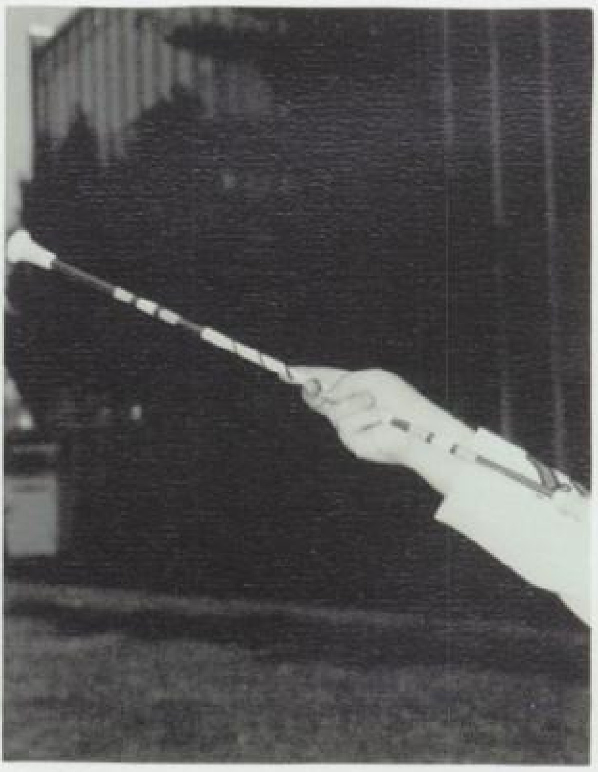
Viewed by many, "The Day After" was a movie which touched upon the nuclear fears in society. Fears included power plants, placement of missles in Europe, and "the bomb."

"You can't judge a book by its cover" was the best statement one made when regarding the clothes modeled by Angie Zabick and Ed Tucholski.

Organizations



Keeping In Touch

The main idea for these groups was keeping in touch. Student Council represented the student body and kept the students in touch with what was going on in our school. The Student Council was responsible for many major activities throughout the year, such as, the football homecoming dance, the blood drive and the food drive. Communications Club kept the Penta students informed about the happenings at Rossford. The "R-Echo" reported information to the students and the faculty about up-coming and past events and from the inquiring reporter and printed the cartoon "Off The Wall."

Letters were enlarged, as "R-Echo" staff members used the headliner to elaborate copy.

Decisions, decisions were what Mrs. Jaeger and Chris Gamble had to make during the preparations for the football homecoming dance.

N.H.S.

New Location

The National Honor Society, one of Rossford's most prestigious groups, had the responsibility of making money for student scholarships. The group raised this money by working in the bookstore. When the cafeteria was moved downstairs, the students seemed to forget that a bookstore existed. In order to remind the students that it was still in operation, the bookstore was moved into the cafeteria. In doing so, the group hoped to continue raising money for those students worthy of scholarships.

Quiz Bowl, Chess Team

Active Youth

This year the underclassmen showed Rossford that they too were extremely competitive, but in an academic way. The Chess Team's challenging season was handled by a predominantly freshmen and sophomore team, with only one senior helping the team. Meanwhile, the Quiz Bowl Team, though losing in its first match, was made up mainly by sophomores. Both the Chess Team and the Quiz Bowl Team proved that being older may not always mean being wiser, especially on these teams.

Librarians

Moving In

Although the library was closed for most of the first semester, student librarians were kept busy. Mrs. Moritz had the difficult task of moving the senior high library and student librarians were a great help. Instead of checking out books and shelving returned books, librarians were boxing and hauling books from room to room. By helping to prepare for the new library, librarians were able to appreciate this new addition.

O. W. A.

An Alternative

Occupational Work Association continued to provide an alternative to those students needing a different learning experience. O.W.A., a one-year commitment, allowed students to take morning classes and in the afternoon allowed them to obtain jobs. The jobs varied from working in the cafeteria, and cleaning up the school to obtaining jobs from area businesses. From this work-study program, students obtained experiences that they would not have obtained in the classroom only.

Attending morning classes was a part of a daily routine for Dale Clark, Ryan Reigle, and Teri Holms, before their afternoon work experience.

Spanish Club — French Club

Excited Involvement!

Belonging to a club was an important part of high school. Embarrassment, excitement, and sometimes even frustration were what one might be subjected to if he or she wished to belong. The "fun" of French Club initiation and the joys of distributing food to a poor Spanish family required cooperation and involvement for success.

Helping load food, the Spanish Club members prepare to take food to needy families.

Some Entertainment for Everyone

Providing entertainment for all, the Varsity R and Drama Club were two of the largest organizations. Many hours of practice meant learning to budget time for studies and sleeping. While entertaining people was not one of the main purposes of these clubs, the members did provide entertainment for their audiences whether on the field or the stage. Sometimes one wondered was all the practice really worth the outcome. The answer was almost always "yes."

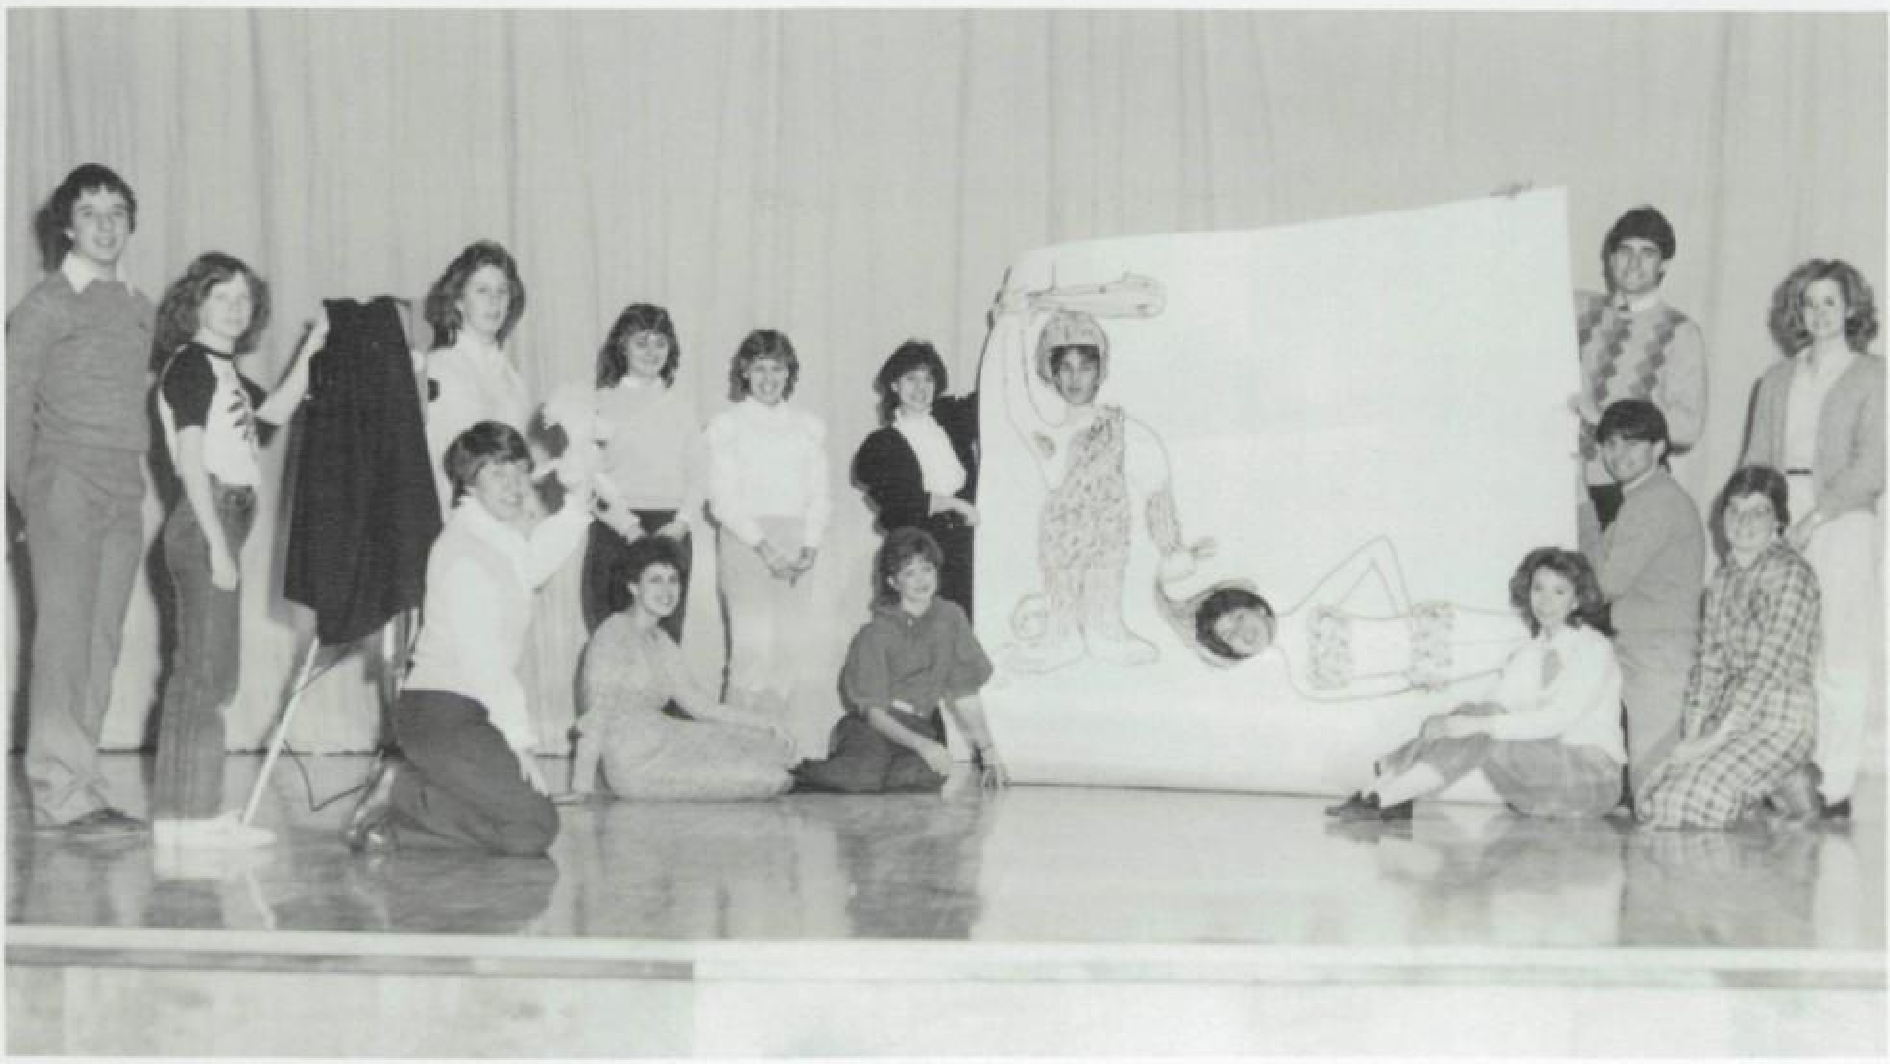
"Deadlines Are Due!"

Seventh period became the center of activity for those students planning the yearbook. The color, design, and theme of this year's book were just a few decisions the group had to make. Each student had certain duties to perform and it was his obligation to fulfill his tasks. Dates were set for sections to be completed and a final deadline was set for the completion of the yearbook. On this date, all material had to be typed and ready to be sent to the printer. Then, the day arrived when the yearbook was returned: bound, printed and ready to be distributed. It was a long tedious job but the finished product was worth all the hard work.

Deadlines were hard to meet, as Holli Dean hurried to crop a perfect picture.

Error free copy was the goal of Kris Gwozdz, a senior member of the staff.

Extra assistance was given by Cheryl Bohland to Tracy Curtis as they checked over yearbook proofs.



YEARBOOK STAFF: Standing — Larry Oberdorf, Jennifer Dewese, Karole Karpinski, Shelly Patton, Cheryl Bohland, Patty Badik (ed.), Scott Caro (caveman), Dan Creps, Kris Gwozdz. Sitting — Mrs. Baker (adv.), Michelle Kornasiewicz, Holli Dean, Cheryl Kobylak (cavewoman), Tracy Curtis, Jeff Rodriguez, Miss Weber (student teacher).

Is There Another Concert Today?

Many concerts were graced with the presence of the '83-'84 Mixed Glee and Freshman Chorus. Most of the concerts were around the Christmas season. A couple of places where they performed were Owens-Illinois and the Sports Arena. Under the direction of Mrs. Barrow, they also attended contests in the spring.

And For Our Entertainment Tonight, We Present . . .

A new idea was tried for the 83-84 Spotlight Singers. A group jazz class was a requirement for all members. This aided dancing ability and helped them in their performances at churches and schools.

The main purpose of the Pep Band was to entertain the crowd at basketball games, which helped to inspire the team to victory. Occasionally Mr. Burnett allowed a senior to lead the group. An additional feature of the music department, the majorettes, performed at football games and parades. Band sessions meant hours of practice, and it showed at all the events they participated in.

SPOTLIGHT SINGERS: Jeff Rodriquez, Daralyn Rist, Greg Maas, Kris Davenport, Mark Taylor, Michelle Barker, Rob Wayne, Shaun Tisdale, Rick Kramer, Ellen Szorady, Todd Gamble, Brenda Vascik, Wendy Limmer, Scott Caro.

Showing their legs were Kris Davenport, Brenda Vascik, Shaun Tisdale, Ellen Szorady, Michelle Barker, and Daralyn Rist.

Largest Ever

This year's marching band was the biggest one in the history of R. H. S. With an average of over 90 people just marching, Mr. Biler and Mr. Burnett had their hands full. Some of the songs played were "Stray Cat Strut," "Africa," and "Eye of the Tiger." In the spring, the concert bands went to district contests and did well.

Attempting to be attentive were Danielle Olwick and Phyllis Miller, while their colleagues talked.

Sectional Champs

The Varsity Baseball Team placed sixth in the N.L.L. with a record of 6-8. The bulldogs finished with an overall record of 13-12. The highlight of the season came in tournament play when the team defeated Lake 5-4 in the final game to become sectional champs. It, then, went on to districts before losing to Port Clinton in a close game 4-5. Two players received honors for their outstanding performances. Bob Faneuff received First Team N.L.L. as a catcher and Dave Hendrzak was named to the First Team AA All-District as an outfielder.

Striving for Perfection

The varsity softball team finished its season on a winning note by defeating Perrysburg in the last regular game of the season. After the regular season ended, the team travelled to Ft. Jennings to begin tournament play. It shut out Delta in the first round of the AA division but was eliminated by Springfield in the second round. Taking third in the N. L. L., the girls started to think about next year since the junior varsity team was undefeated. Recognized for her contribution to the team was Michelle Kornasiewicz. Michelle was selected to the first team for N.L.L. honors.

Trip to Columbus

The track team had an extraordinary season as it finished second in the league and sent six runners to the state tournament. Attending the state meet in individual competition was Albert Sallee, who placed fourth in both the 300-meter low-hurdles and 110-meter high-hurdles. Two relay teams also, journeyed to Columbus, the 3200-meter relay team consisting of Jack Tisdale, Ron Zuchowski, Dan Creps, and Ivory Anderson, and the 1600-meter relay team consisting of Jack Tisdale, Ivory Anderson, Pete Durden, and Ron Zuchowski. This is the largest number of runners ever sent to the state meet in one season. Other honors received by the team were Class AA District Champs, second in the Oak Harbor Invitational, and a third place in the AA Regional Tournament. Individuals receiving first team N.L.L. honors were Albert Sallee in the 110-meter high-hurdles and the long jump, the 3200-meter relay team, the 1600-meter relay team, and Ivory Anderson in the 800-meter run.

As the girls become more active in the participation of sports, their track team has grown more every year not only in size, but in strength and in will power also. This year the competition was tough, but the girls at Rossford High had pride and faith in themselves and put everything they had into every meet.

Tennis

It Takes Time

Tennis, a relatively small but growing varsity sport at Rossford, gave the members the opportunity to develop accurate serves, sharp returns, and skills needed to be an excellent tennis player. The 1983 season was short but the team was active and alert for all chances to return victories for Rossford High.

A Rebuilding Season

Although the golf team was on the losing end this past season, there was truth to the statement that it was a rebuilding year. Dave Verbosky was the only senior on the team consisting of three juniors, seven sophomores, and two freshmen. Evidence of underclassman development was shown through the play of Matt Vedra, as he most often received medalist for Rossford and had the best average score. Improvement was shown in other players, providing hope for a promising season next year. The team ended its season with a 7-14 overall record and an N. L. L. record of 1-6.

Concentration and follow through were needed as Kevin Heck made his putt.

Volleyball

Begins With A "W"

"Begins with a 'W;' ends with a 'N;', put an 'I' in the middle and WIN, WIN, WIN" was the cheer that started every game as the Bulldogs prepared for another match. The varsity volleyball team finished 12-13 overall and 5-9 in the league. For their contributions to the team Barb Young and Lisa Fix were named District Seven all-star team members. Also, for her above-average performance and effort Lisa Fix was awarded with first team N.L.L. honors.

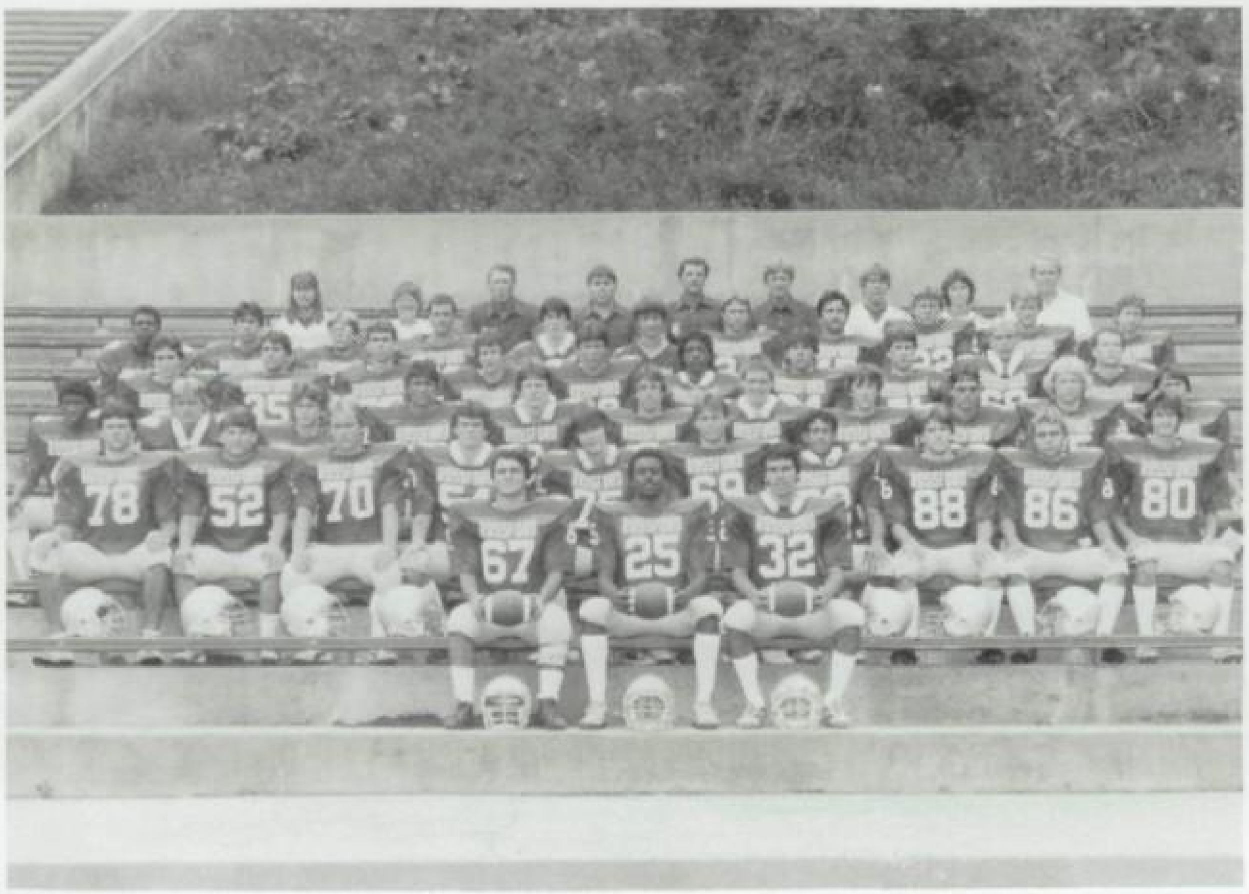
Injury Ridden Year

Injuries caused a problem for the varsity football team this year. The knee injury was the most major disability as three starting members had this problem. Although the team was plagued by injuries all season long, the players managed to overcome these to have a respectable season. The biggest victory of the season came in the homecoming game when the Bulldogs beat Perrysburg 7-6. The team finished its season with an N. L. L. record of 2-4-1 and an overall record of 4-5-1.



Knelt at the sideline, Coach Ferguson watched his players with intensity.

Cross Country

A Difficult Season

AAA competition and lack of runners proved to give the varsity cross country team trouble this year. Eight of the twelve dual meets were against AAA competition. The team won only one of these eight meets. This one victory against bigger schools seemed to be the high point of the season as the varsity runners defeated Perrysburg on its own testing course by a score of 22-33. The losses to these schools were due partly to lack of runners. The Rossford team had only ten members whereas other schools had twice that number. The team ended its season with an N. L. L. record of 2-5 and an overall record of 5-7.

The girls' tream showed much improvement this year as long runs and hard work-outs helped to better the girls' running. Jackie McGee came on strong at the end of the season to represent Rossford at the regional meet held in Tiffin, Ohio. The girls finished their season with an overall record of 3-5 and an N. L. L. record of 3-4.

Boys' Basketball

Tough Times

The Boys' Varsity basketball team fell on some hard times this past season. The bulldogs got off to a great start as they had a 10-4 overall record and were tied for first place with Perrysburg and Lake in the N.L.L. with a league record of 7-3. Things then seemed to get tough all over for the team as it suffered 4 league losses in a row which drowned the hopes for a league championship. It finished the season with an overall record of 11-8 and a league record of 7-7. John Tooson was selected for the first team in the N.L.L. and Player of the Year. He, also, was a member of the first team in District 7.

Coach Stalma is a member of Ohio High School Basketball Coaches' Hall of Fame with a career record of 288 wins and 101 losses. At the end of the 1984 school year he retired.

A Rough Season

Although this was not statistically a good season for the basketball team, the varsity girls played with a will to win every game. Working hard in practices which were held at various times during the week as well as on weekends, both varsity and junior varsity improved their athletic skills, finishing 2 and 18 overall and 1 and 14 in the league.

Cheerleaders

Splitting Up

The Varsity Cheerleaders were split into two squads — one for football and one for basketball. This was done to give more girls a taste of what cheering is all about. Each squad became involved in many fund-raising projects such as seasonings candy, and pizza sales to pay for the new uniforms that were purchased. Following tradition, the lockers were decorated every Thursday night, and goodies were baked for the team on Fridays. The girls worked hard throughout the year and splitting the squads proved to be effective.

A Time Of Testing

Establishing one's personality and making lasting friendships were all part of going to school. Walking down the halls in the junior high building between classes, an observer couldn't help noticing the locker decorations expressing each individual student's likes and dislikes. Also, the conversations taking place at the lockers revealed friends sharing good times and helping out in troubled times. Eighth grade was a time of testing to find that certain identity and niche in the world.

A Spirited Class Of '88

As the new school year began, evidence showed that the class of '88 would be spirited and full of enthusiasm. The little individuals seen roaming the hallways during the school days turned into rowdy Rossford fans at various pep rallies and sports events. They not only supported the junior high events, but were also seen at the high school events, cheering just as loudly as the upper classmen.

Seventh Grade

Becoming Class Of '89

Lockers, bulletin boards, pep assemblies, badges, hats and signs were all part of showing school spirit and pride in Rossford. By doing these things, seventh graders learned about and began to follow Rossford's traditions related to class activities and athletic teams. They made new friends as they cooperated to decorate lockers, to put up bulletin displays and to participate in spirit rousing assemblies. All of these activities and traditions helped unite 154 seventh graders from various schools, into the R. H. S. Class of '89.

Emerging Individuals

Working together to become the Class of '89 wasn't always easy. Individuals had to make commitments and develop self-confidence to accept responsibilities. Some students were elected to leadership positions; some joined organizations. One seventh grader, Shane Bolt, had the confidence to audition for and to receive the lead in "Oliver" which was performed at the Westgate Dinner Theater. Some of Shane's experiences working with professional actors helped him show others how a group working together got things done whether in class, on the field, or on stage.

Another Playing Test?

Seventh and eighth grade bands and choir faced playing tests and voice tests throughout this past year. None of them were very enjoyable, and the best part was when they were finally over. That was when the relief set in. After all these tests, it turned out to be a good year.

Organizations helped the junior high students get involved in school activities. Among the organizations were quiz bowl, student council, and drama club. Many students became active in these clubs and learned that similar clubs existed in the senior high, too.

Spirit Raisers

The junior high cheerleaders and wrestlerettes worked hard all year to show their teams that they were behind them all the way. The cheerleaders helped their high school counterparts in raising money for uniforms, while the wrestlerettes did the same. Both groups decorated the boys' lockers and cheered their teams on to victory.

EIGHTH GRADE: Front — Jenny Baumgartner, Sandy Buttner, Row 2 — Julie Plikerd, Anne Dwyer, Christie Anderson. Row 3 — Beth Zuchowski.

SEVENTH GRADE: Jennifer Potthoff, Lori Lazzaro, Jodi Williams, Diane Salisbury, Tracy Schrier, Allison Kornasiewicz.

WRESTLERETTES: Yvette Hardin, Andrea Lengel, Jennifer Peer, Sheryl Waters, Jenny Engwert, Heather Smith.

Major Changes

A few changes were made in junior high sports' activities this year. The major change that occurred was the split of the junior high football team into separate seventh and eighth grade teams. Another change involving the football team was that its practice field was moved to behind Alter Middle School due to construction and additions. The other change was the new gym facility in which the basketball and wrestling teams held practices and games. This was a positive change because the teams before had to travel to surrounding elementary schools to hold practice. Although some of these changes may have caused setbacks, the coaches and athletes overcame these obstacles to have successful seasons.

Todd,

You know, in these last few weeks I seem to have gotten to know you a lot better than in the past and you know what... I think you are the nicest, sweetest, cutest, funniest, etc.. person in the junior class. Now I want you to know that I just don't say those things to anyone! I'm just sorry the year is ending so soon after getting to know you! Todd, You've got something that a lot of people lack... That's personality and I mean an excellent one, so don't you ever change!! You're the only person on the baseball team with a sense of humor! Thanks a lot for all the laughs you gave me at the baseball games. They would have been super boring with out your gorgous ← I think I spelled that wrong ??? smile & I can't forget those blue eyes.

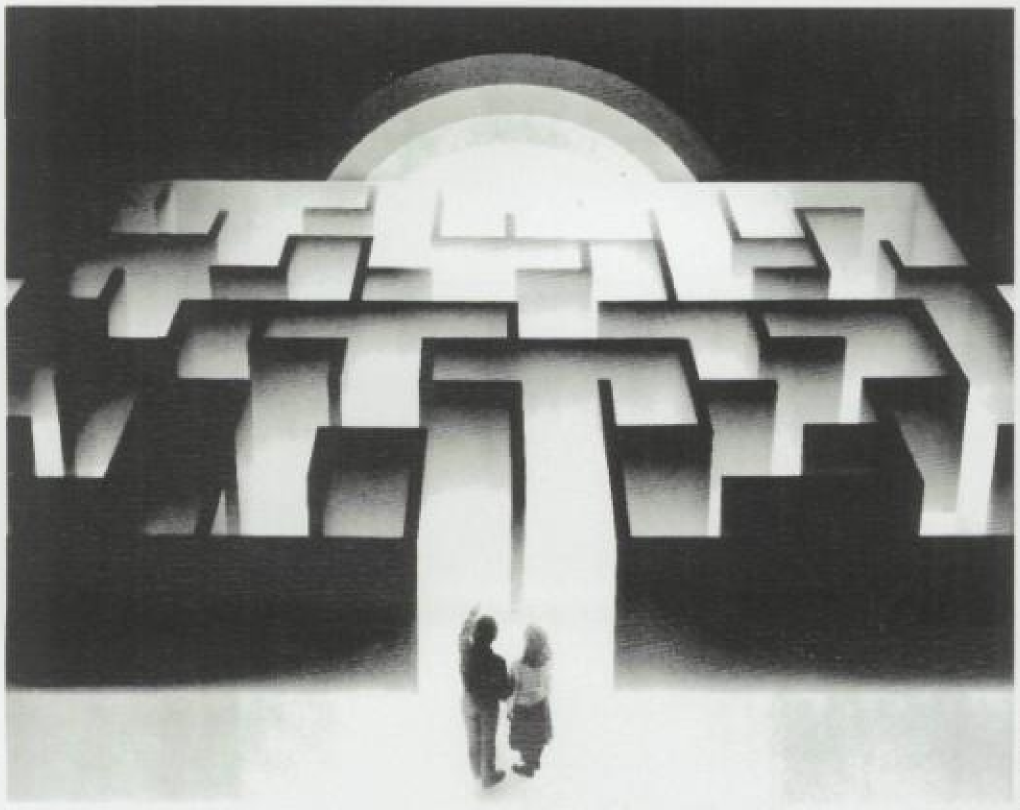
DON'T BE AFRAID TO LOOK AROUND THE NEXT CORNER



Some people are so frightened by the prospect of failure that they never attempt anything. They wait passively for fate to decide their lot in life and then spend years grumbling about the terrible hand they've been dealt.

It's not a very productive way to live.

By deciding what you want from life, planning for it and dedicating as much energy as it takes, you build a framework within which life's unexpected obstacles become rewarding challenges.

It's a great way to start realizing your dreams.

At LOF Glass, we think that the same philosophy works for companies too. That's why we're always looking for ways to improve our products, as well as the community in which we live and work. We're dedicated to making things better and we look forward to challenges.

Because all that lies around the corner is opportunity!

FOCUS ON

What lies beyond . . .

Todd

Well I really dont know what to say. But I guess you could say it's been a crazy year.
I'm really glad that you moved here and I got to know you, you could say really good. But during the middle of the year What happen? Maybe during the summer we can get thing straightened out. Since your not going Ind.
this summer Dont forget I'm home. So dont be stranger!!
One more thing. I'm really glad that were friends Again. And Dont Forget I'll always have a place for you in my heart.
Good luck in what ever you do cause you deserve the best!
Love Always
Lisa

TOD, (GUMBY, DFT)

Well this Has been one great year. I AM Really glad that I got to known you because your one cool Dude. Your one of the Best Friends some one could Have. We Have Done Alot of crazy things this year, like when we went Bowling that one night when it was Icy. THAT WAS A RIOT! We are going to Have to do A lot of crazy things this summer. AND I mean A lot!! I Am sure we are going to Have A great time At your Brother's wedding. Well see you around this summer

Brian

P.S.
I think you are ready for the INDY 500
you Have Become
A very skilled Driver.

Gilbert,

Well baby, we've been through a lot! I'm really happy that you moved here. At first I didn't know what you'd be like, but I'm very glad you're the way you are. Dirtyworks was fun even though it had its ups and downs. If it wasn't for that play, I don't think we'd be as close as we are now. New York was a lot of fun! We had a hellava good time!!! There were so many good times in N.Y.C. that I can't write them all down. Your friendship means a lot to me, and when we had that fight and got mad at each other, it wasn't very pleasant. I would see you in the hall, but I couldn't say hi, cuz you were still mad at me. I'm very glad that we aren't mad at each other anymore.

I hope that you get involved in drama again next year! You could have any lead if you wanted it and now you won't have to worry about people bossing you around. Next year we'll have so much fun, and we're going to be big SENIORS! I hope that in the future we become even closer friends! We'll have to get together and party which we never did. You know that if you need someone to talk to, I'll always be here. All you have to do is pick up the phone or stop by. REMEMBER THAT!!!

Thanks for being there when I needed someone to talk to. I hope I helped you out. You hold on to your dreams there, Boy! Boy, if you let them go, you're stupid! I know you won't. Just like I never will.

Remember, we have to party this summer.

Love ya Always,
Bozy

Todd,

So hasn't this year been interesting? We had so much fun every morning 1st hour! She was always so funny when she was mad! Well, do you remember when you didn't have any friends and the football team wanted to stomp on you? Well, you still don't have any friends! (just kidding)! Serious now, we've really had some good times this year! Remember the day we went to Southwyck and you left the keys in the car? Then you were taking me home and we jumped the Five-Point tracks? Fun times! How bout when we went up to Bowling Green? Well, time is gone and I have to finish. So take it easy this summer and I know I'll see you! (Hopefully on the golf course)!

FRIENDS,
Jeff DuShane

P.S. -
REMEMBER TO BUY ME
A GOLD MEDALLION,
'CUZ I'LL ALWAYS BE
THE PURE STALLION!

Todd,
I am
super glad that I got to know
you this year
during the Baseball! You have the best personality
& a great sense of humor, not to mention very good looking!! I am really impressed that the games & Smile!!
at the laugh & But Gilt!!
a good year & in the best
next year the summer
Have a fun summer
See you around!!
next year in
& I hope
You are sitting by you make me
because you make me I was next year
I sure hope goodluck! Make next year Todd, goodluck! Make ever! to see you future year! & I hope Goodluck!!
And Baseball!!

Love,
Julie Kotecki

Todd,
To start, I always thought you were sweet & nice. I'm just sorry I gave you the wrong impression. I never ever disliked you. I'm glad that finally everythings okay. I really felt bad. But anyways, I'm glad I got to know you. You truly are a remarkable guy. I just hope after I graduate, you guys don't forget where I live. Well, you take good care of yourself & have a great Senior year! Have a nice summer & I hope to C you & the gang a lot. Keep in touch! Goodluck always!

Love,
Jodi

P.S. I hope I never have to eat in a fancy restaurant, in front of you, again. I was so imbarrased! (eating my salad)

Tener Fag Todd,

To one of my bestest friends at this stinking school. We had some really great times in chior, And we gotta give Deb some more trouble next year. Were gonna have to get togather over the sommer and get really wild. Go out and get the beers and go fox huntin. And If by some wild chance we don't see one another over the summer, you have a great one. Remeber you'll always be a "jerk" to Deb and if you don't straighten up you will always be a "jerk".

Mr. B

Martin

Becker

Todd,

One of my best memories of my Junior year was getting to know you. Of all the places in the world I'm glad you ended up in Rossford. 5th & 7th hour just would not have been worth the bother if you were not there to break-up the monotony - we sure have had our great moments. I'm so glad my glass-case turns you on - I will treasure the picture you drew for me forever! So now it's time to retire as "mature adults" & become Seniors, yea!! Let's make the most of next year & strive to be the very best we can be! I better get to see ya lots over the summer - keep in touch - This summer is gonna be great & there are so many good times ahead of us - so stop over & we can go out & cause alot of trouble! (Well, within reason (ha!)) Take Care & have a good one!

Love ya,
Kathleen
